Spanning Atlantic?

ELSIE MACKAY

Miss Mackay, daughter of Lord Inchcape, is believed to be in the American-built plane piloted by Capt. W. R. Hinchliffe, which when last heard from was 170 miles west of Ireland in an attempt to span the Atlantic Ocean. The flight, from London to New York via Newfoundland, if successful will be the first non-stop hop westward over the Atlantic.

WINS FORTUNE IN RADIO COUP

THE Peach WALL STREET CLOSE

CLEANS UP MILLIONS IN FOUR DAYS

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP.)—A man who 20 years ago was selling tickets at a Broadway theatrical ticket agency today was credited with putting over one of the most sensational coups in Wall street history.

He is Michael J. Meehan, who almost singlehanded engineered the sensational rise in Radio common which carried the stock up 50 points in four trading days, brought him a fortune of millions of dollars and a severe case of nerves.

Just how much he has made in the past four days, which have seen the exchange record for sales volume twice broken, he probably does not know himself, and estimates in the street run from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000.

He has pushed Durant, Livermore, Cutten and the Fisher brothers into the background and today is the "biggest man" in speculative Wall street. There is evidence, however, that he is on friendly terms with all of them.

He literally and actually "made the move" in Radio, gave most of the orders, filled most of the bids and churned the stock around at a million-dollar clip, which left Wall street gasping and trying to guess what "Mike" Meehan would do next.

Twenty years ago, when passing out tickets, Meehan met Charles Morgan, one-time newspaperman and later a big scale stock broker.

Morgan at the time was in the market and Meehan went to work for him handling a few wires on the curb market. After several years he started out for himself with little success. He had one severe setback, but with the aid of a few friends staged a comeback and eight years ago bought a seat on the exchange when they were selling between $85,000 and $115,000.

He made progress slowly, but finally became a specialist in Radio common and immediately became bullish.

He started his accumulation of the stock at around 85 or 90. Radio started out quietly when General Motors began to move two weeks ago. Then quickening its pace it went on a rampage of its own, which brought it from $98.25 last Thursday to a close of $146 a share yesterday. At one time it reached $160.

Meehan's firm now holds four other exchange seats in addition to his own.

CAL. FLOOD TOLL MAY REACH 500

By ARTHUR L. MAREK, International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—While hundreds of grief-stricken and hysterical relatives stormed crude morgues in half a dozen towns in the Santa Clara Valley today seeking loved ones, the death toll in the San Francisquito Canyon Dam disaster mounted to 500 estimated dead and $2,000,000 property loss.

"We already know of some 250 dead in various sections of the valley," said Under-Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, in charge of the Newhall-Saugus sector, "and we expect to find that many more when we start digging in the mud and silt. All we did yesterday was to pick up bodies which were in sight along the river bank."

Hour by hour a new horror attending the disaster was revealed as relief work got under way and drastic sanitary measures were enforced to halt possible pestilence.

All during the night beacon-like fires glowed through the drizzle of rain that fell in the valley as dead work animals and wreckage were burned.

DEATH CAME SWIFT

"As great as was the calamity, there was one merciful note," said Under-Sheriff Biscailuz. "Death came swift and sure. Almost everybody in the valley was in bed shortly after midnight, when the wave of water was released as 925 feet of the 1,000-foot concrete dam gave way.

"It will never be known exactly what happened at and below the dam. It took our men all day on horseback to reach the dam—and there were no survivors."

The figures on the recovered bodies posted at Newhall are: Oxnard, 4; Ventura, 9; Fillmore, 47; Newhall, 46; Piru, 61 (unofficial); Santa Paula, 36; Saticoy, 5; Moor Park, 40; total, 248.

The search for bodies practically stopped at nightfall last evening and was resumed at daybreak today. Officers in charge of searching parties expected the death list to rise rapidly as a more careful survey of the valley was made, clefts in the hills explored and wreckage uncovered.

Meanwhile, three separate investigations were under way to determine

NO WORD OF BRITISH OCEAN FLIER

International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Anxiety deepened with every passing hour today as the black-and-gold British monoplane, Endeavour, bearing Capt. Walter Hinchliffe and another person, believed to be the Hon. Elsie Mackay, daughter of Lord Inchcape, failed to put in an appearance anywhere along the Atlantic seaboard—from New York to Newfoundland.

The brightly-painted monoplane took off at 8:40 a. m. yesterday (3:40 a. m. New York time) from the Cranwell Airdrome some 75 miles north of London on a projected trans-Atlantic flight, a westerly non-stop crossing of the ocean which never has been accomplished in a heavier-than-air machine, and which has brought disaster and death to all those who previously had made the attempt.

GONE 34 HOURS

At 1:45 this afternoon, New York time, 34 hours had elapsed since the take-off and no conclusive information of the plane's whereabouts had been received for hours. It was last seen for a certainty yesterday, less than 200 miles off the Irish coast. An unconfirmed report from St. Johns, Newfoundland, today said

N. Y. C. DENIES PLOT AGAINST UNION COAL

By MAX HENRICI, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—W. C. Bower, manager of purchases and stores of the New York Central Lines, testified before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today in its investigation of the coal strike, that his company is buying coal in Western Pennsylvania at from $1.50 to $2 a ton, which he admitted was less than the cost of production. The New York Central pays $2.33 a ton for coal obtained from its subsidiary, the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation, which sells it at cost. Bower denied that his company was a party to a conspiracy, as charged by the United Mine Workers, to depress prices of railroad fuel and to favor non-union operators.

He admitted that the New York Central could afford to pay the Jacksonville scale of wages, for which its miners are striking, and

BODY FOUND IN WELL, BROTHER DETAINED

William Turner, of 2502 Denlin avenue, Banksville, was detained by police following the finding today of the drowned body of his brother, John Turner, 55, in a well in front of their home.

Taken with Turner was Albert Smith, of 2637½ Bellingham avenue, Banksville, both on suspicious person charges. Police said they had been with John Turner late last night.

It was William who found the body of his brother, who was reputed to be financially independent. He told police that when he awoke today his brother was not in the bed in which the two usually slept.

Police were convinced that foul play was involved in Turner's death by the fact that boards covered the well in which the body lay, leaving only an opening which measured 10x12 inches.

Authorities were told that John owned considerable property in Banksville. Besides William, he had another brother, Lawrence Turner, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Dehring, of West View.

THE WEATHER

Cloudy and slightly colder tonight; Thursday generally fair; lowest temperature tonight about 30 degrees.

Election Cases Ready, But Rody Isn't

The prospect of delay in trials of some 200 election officials accused of frauds at the September primary was increased today when Attorney Rody P. Marshall, sole defender of all the accused, failed to appear for the trials of two election boards scheduled for today, and the cases went over.

Judge Joseph M. Swearingen in Criminal Court was indirectly informed that Marshall was engaged before the Supreme Court sitting here. First Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park was prepared to go ahead with both cases, one to be prosecuted by Assistant Roy T. Clunk.

The boards listed were those of the Ninth district of the Third Ward, comprising James H. Baton, judge of election, J. C. Scephy and George Moore, inspectors, and Robert T. Holmes and Van R. Withers, clerks, and the Twentieth district of the Twenty-first Ward, comprising Benjamin Foster, judge of election, William Trautetter and Margaret Ring, inspectors, and Charles Fuller and John Blair, clerks.

The charge of Attorney A. M. Imbrie, chairman of the special committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association, assisting the election prosecutions, that the retention of one attorney to defend all cases would require months for the disposition of the cases was upheld in court circles today.

Further postponements because of Mr. Marshall's engagements in other courts are also expected, as indicated today. The present likelihood, according to the district attorney's office, is that fewer than 10 boards may be brought to trial before the summer recess, with about 30 boards deferred until next fall and winter.

The two cases listed for today and postponed were the second and third boards involved in the September primary to be brought to trial. The first board, that of the Twentieth district of the Tenth Ward, entered pleas.

FIREMEN CHOP OFF COVER -:- WHEN BODY IS FOUND -:- IN BANKSVILLE WELL

DISCOVERER

William Turner (left) showing police his brother's body in a well in front of their home, 2502 Denlin avenue, Banksville. The opening, 10 by 12 inches, mystified the authorities. Officers first on the scene were Wagonman H. F. Roberts, No. 8 police station; Wagonman J. B. Muck, Motorcycle Patrolman J. K. Leith and Lieut. J. J. Rogan.

SAW OFF TOP

Firemen from No. 10 Engine Company, West End, had to saw away part of the wooden covering over the well to recover John Turner's body, which was embedded in mud and water. Members of the homicide squad examined the body for marks of violence.

FIRE LADDER USED

The well in which the dead man was found was only a few feet from the front door of the house. The Turner brothers had been filling it with dirt and had it about half-filled when the tragedy occurred. The dead man was reported to be well-to-do.

MINE UNION-BUSTER IS GRILLED AT PROBE

RAILROAD DENIES PLOT

conceded that Judge J. N. Langham's drastic injunction against the strikers in Indiana county, Pa., was a mistake.

He proposed as a remedy for the distress of the coal industry that a Federal coal commission be established with power to authorize consolidations and selling agencies.

$1.50 vs. $12 a Ton

It was developed that Pittsburgh housewives are paying $6 and Washington housewives $12 a ton for coal of the same quality that the railroads are obtaining for from $1.30 to $2.35 a ton. This was because, Bower said, "too many middle men" handled the coal.

He testified that Pittsburgh district coal is by far the best of the many kinds bought by the New York Central and is used in the operation of its crack passenger train, the Twentieth Century Limited.

Joseph A. Meagher, self-styled "industrial efficiency engineer," who preceded Bower on the stand, admitted under severe examination by Senators Burton K. Wheeler and Robert F. Wagner that statements attacking the United Mine Workers in a circular for which he assumed responsibility were false. Remarks in the circular reflecting against Americans of foreign origin brought from Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, the observation that of the four senators present at the hearing—Couzens, Wagner, Wheeler and Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho—all but Wheeler were "foreigners," having been born abroad.

Wheeler wanted to know if Meagher had not been indicted with Harry W. Gee, president and general manager of the Gas Electric Company, one of Meagher's employers for bootlegging. Meagher denied that he had been, but on being pressed, admitted he had been arrested with Gee and a man named "Mike." Wheeler asked what "Mike's" surname was.

"Frankly, Senator," said Meagher, "I paid so little attention to the matter that I don't remember."

"Only Small Job"

Meagher declared the only services he had rendered to the Ohio Coal Operators had been to look after their commissary and bunkhouse arrangements and fix their lights for protective purposes.

Wheeler quizzed Meagher in regard to a circular issued on April 2, 1927, attacking John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers. Meagher said the circular was issued by his office during his absence, at the instigation, he thought, of the California Open Shop Association, but that he assumed full responsibility for it.

Senator Gooding asked Meagher if the Pennsylvania-Ohio Miners' Relief Committee had had anything to do with his attack on Lewis. The witness said it had not.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, took up Meagher's statement of yesterday that he advised corporations on tax matters. He asked Meagher some questions on taxation that left the witness completely bewildered.

Senator Wagner called Meagher by his title of "doctor," although the witness admitted no such degree had ever been conferred on him.

His Own Titles!

Senator Wagner asked Meagher where he had got his titles of "industrial efficiency engineer" and "he-man engineer" and he admitted he had given himself the designations.

Senator Wagner asked Meagher if he would stand responsible for the truth of the statements in the circular attacking Lewis.

Meagher said he would not.

"As a matter of fact," said Senator Wagner, "you know the statements are false."

Meagher answered that he did not know.

Senator Wagner directed attention to scurrilous remarks in the circular, reviling the members of the United Mine Workers as of foreign origin.

"Is there anything repugnant to you," asked Senator Wagner, "in the fact that an American citizen may be of foreign origin?"

Meagher answered in the negative.

Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, remarked in this connection that of the four members of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee that were present at the time—Couzens, Wheeler, Gooding and Wagner—all but Wheeler were born abroad.

"All of us but the senator from Montana are foreigners," said Senator Couzens.

Back-Tracking

Senator Wagner read statements from the Meagher circular.

One of them was that the United Mine Workers was "a Mafia of shotguns, daggers and bombs."

Meagher admitted that that was untrue.

Another statement in regard to the alleged terrorism practiced by the United Mine Workers brought from Meagher the remark:

"Unionism makes everyone tremble."

"Except you," commented Senator Wheeler.

When Bower, the New York Central purchasing agent, was called he testified in part as follows:

"Generally speaking, the policy of the New York Central system is to purchase coal on its own lines, excepting that to some extent purchases are made on the lines of certain connections which give the system large volumes of commercial business. The total of these latter purchases is about 15 per cent of the total coal purchased.

"The particular regions in which coal is purchased is determined by their proximity to the divisions on which the coal is to be consumed. For example, on the New York Central Railroad coal is purchased in the Clearfield district for use in freight service east of Rochester. It would not be economical to bring freight coal from the Pittsburgh or Monongahela districts so far east, and, on the contrary, it would not be economical to haul Clearfield coal as far west, for example, as Ashtabula. Clearfield coal is not suitable for main line passenger locomotives, and for this service we use Pittsburgh coal at main line coaling stations east of Buffalo.

Distribute Tonnage

"The localities of purchase having been determined in this way, the purchases have been distributed among the operators in a given district according to the tonnage of their commercial shipments over the lines of the system. This, of course, is subject to the qualification that in the Clearfield district the output is taken of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation or subsidiary coal company.

"In placing the order no distinction has been made and none is now being made between union and non-union mines.

"I have not attempted to exercise the bargaining power of the New York Central system to depress prices or to discriminate between operators or miners, whether union or non-union. I try to obtain reasonable prices by reasonable negotiation.

"The prices of coal are currently published in journals which are issued weekly, and these prices and their trend from week to week are carefully studied by myself and my associates. As a general proposition, the price of coal is determined by supply and demand and it is only within narrow limits that negotiations may at any given time effect a change from these current market prices.

"In this connection I desire to call this committee's attention to two very important considerations which I think are of a special interest to this committee. One of them, at least, I think, has not been alluded to in the hearing.

"The coal companies from which we purchase are also shippers over our lines—sometimes very large shippers. I was advised many years ago by our law department that a concession to a shipper did not necessarily have to be a direct rebate from the published tariff in order to come within the interstate commerce act; that it might be made in the guise of an excessive price paid to a shipper over our lines for an article sold by him. I have always had this advice in mind in trying to negotiate prices which would not be open to that criticism.

"No Agreements"

"The other consideration is that the law requires the railroads to operate efficiently and economically. I understand that this mandate of the law would not permit the railroads to pay prices clearly in excess of those brought about by market conditions, however beneficial it might be to the country generally or to other industries to pay them or however well able the railroad might be to pay them.

"I have no agreement or understanding either express or implied with the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Baltimore and Ohio, or any other railroad company, outside the New York Central system, concerning prices to be paid for the purchase of coal, the localities from which purchases are to be made or the class of operators from which purchases are to be made.

"I have not known and do not know the prices paid by any other railroad system or company.

"I am not and I have not been engaged in any conspiracy, agreement or understanding with any other railroad system or company to exert bargaining power to depress prices of railroad fuel or to favor non-union operators or miners or for any other similar purpose."

In answer to a question of Senator Gooding, Bower said the New York Central was buying coal in West Virginia at from $1.45 to $1.75 a ton; in the Pomeroy district of Ohio at $1.75 a ton; in the Clearfield district of Pennsylvania at $1.90 a ton, and in the Pittsburgh district at $2 a ton.

The Pittsburgh district coal, he said, is by far the best. It is used on the railroad's crack trains, such as the Twentieth Century Limited.

Urges Commission

The New York Central is buying union-mined coal in Indiana and Illinois, Bower said, paying $1.90 a ton in Indiana and $2 to $2.25 a ton in Illinois.

The New York Central, Bower testified, has been buying 27 cars of coal a day from the Pittsburgh Coal Company at $2 a ton; five cars a day from the Rainey Coal Company and five cars from the Hillman Coal Company at $1.60 a ton; 2½ cars from the Foster Coal Company at $1.50 a ton, and eight cars a day from the North American Coal Company at $1.70 a ton. Bower said the Rainey, Hillman and Foster coal came from the Connellsville district, and the North American coal from the Avella district.

Questioned by the senators, he said that the coal undoubtedly was being sold at less than the cost of production.

"The cause," he said, "can be found in the fact that more coal is being produced than can be sold.

"The remedy, in my opinion, lies in the establishment of a coal commission like the Interstate Commerce Commission, which will authorize consolidations and selling agencies under government supervision."

Among the interesting things mentioned by Bower in the course of his testimony was that during the coal strike of 1922 the New York Central bought 10 cars of coal in England, paying for it $15 a ton.

Bower said he thought the injunction obtained by the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation, a New York Central subsidiary, against its striking miners at Rossiter, Pa., forbidding picketing, advertising and the singing of hymns in the yard of the Magyar Presbyterian Church, was a mistake.

The New York Central, it was adduced, takes the entire output of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal Corporation at the actual cost of production, including depletion and depreciation, and at present is paying $2.33 a ton.

"There is no reason, is there?" asked Senator Wheeler, "why the New York Central should not be able to pay miners the Jacksonville scale?"

"No, sir," Bower conceded.

The witness was asked why, when the railroads were able to get coal at from $1.50 to $2.33 a ton, housewives in Pittsburgh have to pay $6 a ton, and housewives in Washington $12.00 a ton for coal of the same quality.

"There are too many retailers—too many middlemen," Bower answered.

Senator Gooding announced that when the committee adjourns tomorrow it will not meet again until Monday.

WOMAN FLIER KILLED

LADY CARBERRY

Lady Carberry, wife of Barton Carberry, Irish peer, and well known as a British colonial aviatrix, was killed instantly when a plane in which she was instructing a pupil named Cowie to fly went into a tail spin and crashed in sight of her husband. The young man also was killed.

NO WORD OF BRITISH FLIER

several persons claimed to have heard the motor of a plane at Brigus, 20 miles west of that city.

Anxious eyes scanned the skies from the coast of Newfoundland, where it was though the plane might reach this morning, if the head winds that prevail on a westerly flight were not more pronounced than anticipated. But nowhere was the big ship sighted. Meanwhile, at Curtiss Field, Long Island, preparations were made to receive the fliers. The plane a Stinson-Detroiter, carried approximately 450 gallons of gasoline, which would give it a cruising time of time of about 40 hours, according to best estimates.

If the plane's cruising speed of 105 miles an hour had been maintained the Endeavour would have arrived at Newfoundland between 4 and 6 this morning and New York, if it had been decided to come to New York, between 5 and 6 this afternoon. But if weather conditions held the speed down to 80 miles, which is about as low as it could operate efficiently, the fliers would not have sighted Newfoundland until 9 a. m.

Not until late today will the hopeful watchers relinquish the idea that the perilous trip will be a success. If by sundown the ship fails to put in an appearance, however, fears of a disaster will be entertained.

Dispatches to International News Service from various points along the North Atlantic coast reported conditions were favorable today for flying. Visibility was good and temperatures were comparatively high. There was very little fog.

While London dispatches stated that it had been virtually established that Capt. Hinchliffe's companion is Miss Mackay, the London agent of Hinchliffe, Harvey Lloyd, said he was convinced it was not. Yet Miss Mackay's close friends were certain she was a passenger and the London Daily Express announced positively that the fliers were Hinchliffe and Miss Mackay.

BRITONS WORRIED

LONDON, March 14.—(6 p. m.)—After the whole day had passed with no word of the safe arrival of Capt. Walter Hinchliffe and the Hon. Elsie Mackay on the American coast, anxiety gave way this evening to actual fears for their safety. At this hour they had been on their way from Cranwell Airdrome nearly 34 hours. Upon the assumption that they planned to fly to Nova Scotia they were approximately five hours overdue there.

Marshal Misses Chicago's First Fire

CHICAGO, March 14.—(AP.)—After more than 30 years without missing a big fire, Marshal Michael Corrigan was unable last night to respond to the first 5-11 alarm in Chicago's history—an alarm which sent more than a third of the city's fire fighting equipment into the Loop.

The building at 112 South Wells street, housing several concerns, was destroyed with an estimated loss of $500,000. All surface and elevated cars converging in the Loop had to be rerouted during the five hours required to conquer the blaze.

Corrigan, ill at a hospital, pleaded with Mrs. Corrigan to let him go.

"Just an hour," he begged. "I'll come right back—honest."

But Fire Marshal Corrigan missed the fire.

Dead in Mystery Shooting

Investigation is being made by McKeesport police into the fatal shooting shortly before midnight of Fred G. Dorsey, 22, of 1704 Versailles avenue, that city. An automatic revolver with two cartridges discharged was found lying near the body. Dorsey was dead, slumped on a bed, when discovered by members of his family.

One of the bullets struck a dresser drawer and then glanced into bedclothing. Another missile entered Dorsey's abdomen. Police discredited foul play, saying that the youth apparently was shot accidentally or else had committed suicide.

"HELD UP," SAYS MAIL DRIVER

A loaded mail truck, locked, was found abandoned at Center and Millvale avenues at 11:30 o'clock last night.

Rexford Haney, 26, the Postoffice Department found, had been in charge of the truck, but he was missing.

At 3 o'clock this morning Haney walked into the East Liverpool, O., police station and told the police that he had been held up in Baum boulevard, by three men and his mail truck stolen. He said two of his captors placed him in another truck and took him to East Liverpool.

Later a truck owned by the Stewart-Warner Company, Baum boulevard and Millvale avenue, was found in East Liverpool. It had been stolen at 11:30 o'clock last night.

"STREET POLICE" SQUAD FORMED

Fearing an influx of women of questionable character as a result of an opinion handed down by Judge Richard A. Kennedy, Common Pleas Court, Monday, prohibiting police magistrates to sentence women to the workhouse without alternative of fine, Director James M. Clark, Public Safety Department, today ordered Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh to immediately organize a squad of picked men for street duty.

"Just as soon as women of questionable character learn that a magistrate can only fine them, the city will be overrun with such women," Clark said.

The new squad will be known as the "Street Squad" and will be in plainclothes.

Prior to Judge Kennedy's opinion, Morals Court Magistrate A. D. Brandon had been sentencing street women to the workhouse for 30 days without a fine. Judge Kennedy ruled that an act giving magistrates power to sentence without a fine was repealed by the act of 1901, the charter act of Greater Pittsburgh.

Director Clark was notified today by workhouse officials that no more women would be accepted. The women's department, the director was told, is filled to capacity.

The "grandfather," who was duped. The sketch shows how at 22 months, little Joseph won a blue-ribbon in baby show.

INNOCENT VICTIM

Too young to realize the trouble raging over him is Joseph, above. For four years now, he has been the son of his "father" and his "grandfather's" grandson. His "father" now is taking action to stop him from benefiting from another $600 monthly income.

HEAR KIN SAFE IN FLOOD

TELEGRAM DISPELS FEARS

The fears of Mrs. P. A. Jack, of 1233 Tennessee avenue, Dormont, for the safety of her two brothers and their families, who are in the Santa Clara River flood district in California, were dispelled this morning when word was received here of their safety. A telegram gave little information other than all were alive.

The brothers, J. R. Lindsay, formerly of Parnassus, and M. A. Lindsay, formerly of Brookline, conduct fruit ranches at Santa Paula. J. R. Lindsay has a married son and several grandchildren living on another ranch nearby. Another son is located at Ventura, Cal., also in the flood district. M. A. Lindsay also is married and has several children.

A telegram telling that she was safe came this afternoon from Mrs. W. J. Kennedy, of Newhall, Cal., to her brother, M. C. Winters, of 511 Murray avenue, Avalon. Mrs. Kennedy's husband is in the forest rangers' service.

Mrs. John Hoffman, of Davis avenue, Homestead Park, has telegraphed Red Cross headquarters at Los Angeles for word of her sister, Mrs. E. M. Heath, who resided with her husband at Filmore, in the flooded valley.

Girl Bride Ends Own Life

While standing before a mirror in the bedroom of her home last night, Mrs. Lulu Ruth Watts, 17, of house No. 83, Renton, placed a revolver to her breast and shot herself in the heart, according to a report to the coroner. She was dead when her husband reached her side. Fear of approaching motherhood is believed to have ompted the act.

Mrs. Watts, mother of an eight-month-old baby, had been to a moving picture show with her husband last evening. She did not appear dejected either before or after the show. Upon returning she went upstairs while her husband remained on the first floor. A revolver shot rang out and when Watts reached the bedroom he found his young wife slumped on the floor with the revolver lying by her body. Dr. J. W. Hawes of Renton was summoned, but Mrs. Watts was dead.

It is said Mrs. Watts had mentioned at different times that she feared very much she would not survive childbirth.

FILM JESTER HAS $300 FOR $500,000 DEBTS

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—(AP.)—Larry Semon, featured film comedian who often has been featured in troublous doings on the screen, today was listed as playing a real-life version of being "broke."

LARRY SEMON

Yesterday Semon appeared in court here and asserted in a voluntary bankruptcy petition that he owed nearly a half million dollars and had only $300 to pay it with—not to mention the fact that he wanted to keep half of the three hundred.

In exact figures the comedian said he was in debt $454,639.87, of which secured claims total $80,000, unsecured claims $277,639.87, and accommodation papers $97,000.

Municipal and Superior Court judgements totaling $2,000 and various other debts, including bills due attorneys, doctors and cafes, were listed in the petition.

SEIZE LIQUOR AT CLUB

Vivid tales of the kill or the whopper that broke the line and got away will be missing tonight when hunters and fishermen get together at the Pennsylvania Sportsmen's Club, 72 Walter street. Last night prohibition agents took away the inspiration, which consisted of 14 barrels of beer, 132 pints of beer, 34 quarts wine, 19 gallons whisky and arrested Bernard Smith, reputed manager.

A cutting plant in McKee place netted four gallons of moonshine, 30 gallons of alcohol and one gallon of wine. The operator of the plant was absent when prohibition agents called.

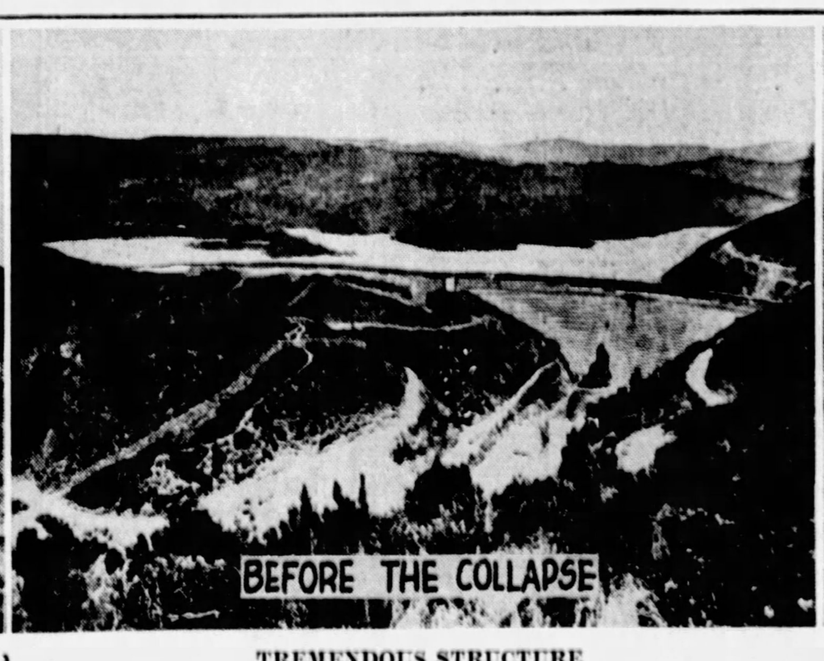
SAN FRANCISQUITO

A panoramic view, showing excited crowds, of the San Francisquito canyon district, down which rode the mountainous wave from the crumbled St. Francis dam in carrying death to many Californians. The dam was a unit of the Los Angeles waterworks system and held back 38,000 acre-feet of water when it broke at night.



TREMENDOUS STRUCTURE

The St. Francis was one of the largest irigation dams in the world and as it stood, 45 miles north of Los Angeles, its calm waters backed up into the arroyo as it is pictured above. When it broke, its waters rushed down the valley before the towering wall, the Santa Paula Valley.

RUINS

The huge concrete face of the dam, when the waters rushed over it, was tossed about in great pieces as so many child's blocks. This photo, transmitted over wires, shows the battered dam after the waters had left. Now, only a peaceful trickle over the ruins remains.

FLOOD TOLL MAY REACH 500

the cause of the break in the huge dam which unleashed 10,000,000,000 gallons of impounded water to carry death and destruction on the crest of its flood.

ADOPT SANITARY MEASURES

Sanitary measures were adopted immediately to prevent a further death toll in the stricken area.

Gov. C. C. Young, who arrived at Santa Paula last night, conferred with sanitation experts to cope with the possible danger.

While the peril of pestilence was said to have been greatly alleviated due to the fact that the flood waters left no stagnation as they raced on to sea level, the danger of contagious diseases lurked for the living as countless bodies were believed to be buried in silt and mire and still others were being sought among the debris.

As the second day dawned bleakly on the spectacle of death and devastation, huge bonfires still flared in the flood-swept valley and the gorges of San Franciquito Canyon, where the homeless huddled throughout the night.

Red Cross flags, hoisted atop improvised hospitals, marked havens of refuge for the sick and injured, while other sufferers slept in tents pitched on the hillsides.

Long lines of fatigued and hungry survivors formed in front of portable soup kitchens and others grouped about boiling coffee pots.

LEGION GUARDS RUINS

Riflemen from the American Legion mounted guard over the relief camps while deputy sheriffs and police from Los Angeles and nearby cities patrolled the 50 miles of desolation.

With the bodies of victims being brought hourly to more than ten concentration points scattered over the flood area, efforts to obtain an accurate check of the death toll is almost impossible.

Because of the condition of the bodies, most of them caked in mud and silt, efforts at identification of the victims is still more difficult.

And with only a small percentage of those recovered so far identified, there is the possibility of duplication in reports for the number of unidentified dead.

To facilitate the task of identifying the dead at Newhall, where 45 bodies have been brought to the Masonic Hall, a numbered tag is attached to each corpse as it is received at the temporary morgue.

CARDINAL MUNDELEIN of Chicago, received by the Pope, on Monday, presented to the head of the Catholic religion a check for $1,500,000, contributed by American Catholics to "aid in propagation of the faith."

That complete separation of church and state does not injure religion is proved by the fact that American Catholics are the most generous contributors to their church.

CARDINAL MUNDELEIN was saluted by the Swiss Guards wearing the interesting uniform designed by Michael Angelo. His cloak was removed by papal "bearers," clad in red damask, that carry the great chair in which the Pope rides to his throne in St. Peter's. The Associated Press report describes Cardinal Mundelein prostrating himself on the ground before the Pope, who affectionately raised and embraced him, and sent a special blessing to each contributor in America.

STEFANSSON, eating nothing but meat in a test, finds that it agrees with him. Men in the Arctic circle eat only meat the greater part of their lives, and thrive. Man is a adaptable animal, can live on the equator, the thermometer at 140 above, or in the Arctic at 60 degrees below zero. He can eat and live on almost anything.

BUT what man needs and ought to have is a much mixed diet. His job here is to cultivate the earth. And to make him work Providence has given him a palate that craves all of the earth's products. An all carniverous or an all vegetarian diet is bad.

THE House Postoffice Committee recommends a cut of $10,000,000 a year in postoffice charges. The one-cent post card will be restored, third and fourth class postal rates reduced.

The suggestion is a good one. If only because it shows that the government knows how to run a postoffice well, even if it can't run railroads, steamships and such difficult enterprises.

C. & P. TO BE KNOWN AS CLEVELAND DIVISION

The Cleveland and Pittsburgh Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which forms a portion of the company's main line between the two cities, will be renamed the Cleveland Division, effective tomorrow, according to the railroad today. The division extends almost due south from Cleveland, joining the main line of the Fort Wayne at Rochester, Pa.

FLOOD SIDELIGHTS

NEWHALL, Cal., March 14.—(AP.)—Viewing the havoc caused by the St. Francis dam break from the air, it looks like a streak of No Man's Land. Sticks thrust upright in the muck mark the places where bodies of the victims were found buried in silt.

Airplanes which soared over the stricken area in great numbers, aided the searchers by dipping low to indicate the positions of bodies. It is easy to spot human beings from a considerable height if their faces are upturned.

The aerial view of the wrecked dam is like a picture of a broken toy. Both right and left wings of the structure were broken and swept away, the central section remaining upright. Nothing remained in the wreckage that remotely resembled a building. Railroad tracks were twisted like spaghetti.

C. E. Phillips, Los Angeles water and power official, who superintended the building of the big dam, expressed the belief that only some external force, such as an earthquake or a dynamite blast, could have caused the break. It was pointed out that a slight earthquake was registered in the neighborhood last Saturday night.

A girl who saved herself from the flood by grasping a plank and sticking to it until it deposited her in the quagmire at the water's edge, buried herself in the mud after her clothing had been torn from her body. When located by rescuers she refused to emerge until a man gave her his shirt for drapery.

Fate played cruelly with one rancher who foresaw the danger and thought he was out of its reach. He loaded his three children into a small automobile and then stopped for a moment to warn a neighbor. When he turned back to his car it had been swept away, human cargo and all.

A curious feature of the disaster was the fact that less than 50 persons were treated for injuries at the Newhall Red Cross Hospital. None of these were seriously injured.

"There's little that doctors and nurses can do; it's a job for the undertakers," nurses said. "They escaped—or they died."

The valley through which the flood roared was one of the more beautiful mountain residence sections of Southern California. It was speckled with orange trees and lemon trees in bloom. Now the orchards are but shrubs covered with silt.

Newhall's appeal for aid is not going unheeded. Trucks were arriving every hour with food and clothing of every description. The little hall that was being used by the Red Cross as temporary headquarters, was crowded to capacity, and no one who applied for food or clothing went away empty handed.

"Live and Win"

Grandfathers said we would never fly and that in life insurance we had to "die to win".

Today men say life insurance is a "live-and-win" plan because it will

1. Accumulate money FOR YOU if you live;
2. Pay YOU a monthly life income, if you become totally and permanently disabled before age 60; and
3. Will afford YOU peace of mind because it makes your loved ones safe.

You wouldn't go barefoot in a blizzard

Nor try to get by in wet and slush with the soles of your shoes worn thin.

Yet smooth tires in winter expose you to far greater dangers than thin shoes. Aside from skidding, the doubtful ability of smooth tires to carry you through all kinds of weather and over every road without a flat is a risk that few car owners want to take. No one likes to get out of the car in knee-deep snow or a torrent of rain and sleet to put on a spare tire.

The most comfortable assurance is to know your car is "well shod" for winter driving; that you can go and come where and when you please without a thought to your tires.

Now is the time to trade in your smooth tires for new Dual Grip Generals. Our special winter allowance will save you every penny's worth of mileage left in your old ones, and you can figure on free non-skid mileage for the rest of the winter. Dual Grip Generals wear so little in winter weather that they will still be practically new when summer comes.

Buy them in the low market. Tire prices are now the lowest in fifteen years.

In buying Generals now they will cost you less than ordinary tires will cost six months from now.

GONE 10 MONTHS, NO CLUE TO GIRL

After a search covering many states, the family of Lillian Steiner, 19, missing 10 months, has appealed to the police to redouble their efforts to find the girl. Miss Steiner's disappearance is one of the most baffling cases Pittsburgh police have had.

Walking from her home, 110 E. Saybrook apartments, Oakland, 10 months ago, she was seen no more by relatives or friends. Only one clue to her whereabouts has bobbed up since and that was lost in the surging maelstrom of New York City. Two days after the girl's disappearance, the telephone in the Steiner home rang and a voice recognized as the girl's said: "I am well. I shall write later."

No letter ever came. The family traced the call to a pay station in New York, but got no farther.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Steiner, the girl's parents, still hope for their daughter's return.

The missing girl, said to possess exceptional beauty, has medium brown hair, gray eyes, and a fair complexion. She is 5 feet 4 inches tall.

THREE WOMEN ASK DIVORCES

Libels in divorce have been filed in Common Pleas Court as follows: Irene Messenger, 216 Shady avenue, against Edgar O. Messenger, Johnstown, cruel and barbarous treatment, and Gertrude M. Withauer, 839 Estella street, against Charles Withauer, same address, cruel and bartsarous treatment.

On the grounds that her husband Albert Briggs, Mifflin township, was convicted of a felony in the Criminal Court, and in June, 1926, Alice L. Briggs, 41 Maple avenue, Dravosburg, has filed a libel in divorce against him.

BEATEN ON CAR, ASKS $5,000

Thomas A. Holly has entered suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company asking $5,000 damages for a beating he says he received at the hands of Conductor J. S. Klinger, on a Lincoln avenue car November 24. Holly alleges that he rode past his stop and, at the end of the line offered to pay his fare for a return trip. He alleges Klinger slugged him with a black jack or other metal instrument he took from his pocket. Holly avers he was beaten unconscious and thrown from the car.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Griffith May Ask Mary Garden, Who Proved "A Flop" in Movies Eight Years Ago, to Try Again

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,

Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, March 14.

THE best patrons of the Chicago Opera Company during its week in Los Angeles were the motion picture folk. That may surprise people who are inclined to believe that nothing but jazz interests the screen stars. Patterson Greene, music critic of the Los Angeles Examiner, says that Pola Negri and her husband, Norma Talmadge, D. W. Griffith, Carmel Meyers, Ruth Chatterton and John Colton attended regularly. Mary Garden so capitivated D. W. Griffith Saturday afternoon with her performance of "Sapho" that he announced his intention of trying to get her to make a picture. Eight years ago she was a terrific flop in the movies because she was stiff and overweight. Today she is slender and possesses a personality that will undeniably justify D. W.'s faith in her.

IVY SAWYER

Miss Sawyer is co-starred with Joseph Santley in "Just Fancy," musical comedy playing in the Alvin.

The land of promise, biblically speaking, has nothing on England at the moment. Those who have contracts are sailing and those who haven't are also. Let's hope the stampede doesn't kill the goose that lays the golden egg. Young Wesley Barry and his wife are leaving this week to explore England's filmland possibilities. Wesley, only yesterday, was known as "Freckles," the youngster who was so well liked in the films.

"Hello, Peter Pan. When are you going to play 'Mary Rose?'" said J. M. Barrie, shaking hands with Betty Bronson and smiling into the eyes of the little girl, who epitomized his idea of the boy who never grew up. "Mary Rose?" faltered Betty. Then Sir James Barrie told her that an English company had spoken of producing his play and that he had suggested her for the part. Not having an astral body, I'd better explain this conversation was repeated in a letter received yesterday.

"Can you stay over here and play 'Mary Rose?'" Barrie asked Betty. She told him she would rather play "Mary Rose" than any other character on the screen, but that she wanted to make it in America. "Why don't you?" asked Barrie. That little bit of encouragement was all Betty needed. She is now on her way back to this country, determined to get an American director to produce not only "Mary Rose," but "Alice-Sit-By-the-Fire" as well.

"Mary Rose," one of the most delicate, ethereal, of the Barrie plays, was brought to the stage by Ruth Chatterton. There is a psychic note in it and a touch of the supernatural that is fascinating and delightful.

Little Miss Bronson also played the screen heroine in "A Kiss for Cinderella," another Barrie play.

The "Cohens and Kellys" series continues. The public loves these Jewish-Irish feuds and the public must be served. Universal's latest urge in that direction is "The Cohens and Kellys in Turkey." Heaven knows what they can do in Turkey, but it must be something funny, else they wouldn't be sent there in the pinks. There is talk that Harry Pollard will direct this. He made the first "Cohens and Kellys," which is regarded as the best of the series.

FOUR VAUDEVILLE ACTS GIVEN IN RESTAURANT

Four acts of vaudeville are given twice nightly in Gamby's restaurant, 326 Diamond street. The first performance begins at 7 o'clock and the second at 11:30. Jo Tyler's orchestra plays for the diners and dancers at both sessions and also during the lunch period. There is a tea dansant every Saturday afternoon from 1:30 until 4:30 o'clock.

SILVERTOWN BAND IN VENICE, FLOTILLA

Programs of concert and dance musical numbers are being presented each noon and night this week by the Goodrich Silvertown Cord Orchestra in the Venice Restaurant and in the Flotilla Club. In addition, the Silver Masked Tenor appears with the orchestra. Another attraction in the Flotilla Club is Bebe Falvo's show.

COMIC OPERAS COMING

Comic opera will be the bill at the Shubert Alvin Theater next week, when Winthrop Ames' Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Company will present three operas, as follows: Monday and Friday nights and Wednesday matinee, "The Mikado;" Tuesday and Thursday nights and Saturday matinee, "Iolanthe;" Wednesday and Saturday nights, "The Pirates of Penzance." The sale of seats opens tomorrow.

Beginning Monday night, March 19, Charles Dillingham's newest production, starring Beatrice Lillie, "She's My Baby," will open in the Nixon Theater. This musical comedy comes from the Globe Theater, New York. The seat sale opens at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The Cameo, Fifth avenue, Downtown, is presenting a double feature program. The features are John Gilbert, supported by Bessie Love and Barbara LaMarr in a re-issue of "St. Elmo," and Jackie Coogan in "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut."

Winnie Lightner, musical comedy star, will headline the Keith-Albee vaudeville in the Davis next week, when the screen feature will be Phyllis Haver in "The Wise Wife."

Alec Francis Has Speaking Role In Picture

"Home Folks," the one-act play by Betsy Allen, is soon to have Vitaphone presentation on the screen. Its principal player is to be Alec Francis, for years a well known actor on the legitimate stage. "Home Folks" was, for years, one of the stand-bys with actors wanting good one-act plays either to fill out a short entertainment or for vaudeville purposes.

At one time Frank Bacon, who earned so much fame in "Lightnin'," used the play to advantage. During one of his tours Bacon had his son, Lloyd, play one of the minor roles in the play. Now Lloyd Bacon is to direct the presentation of the little work in which his father and himself appeared.

Alec Francis, who is to have the elder Bacon's role in "Home Folks," is the possessor of an excellent voice, it is said, and is felt to be admirably fitted for the work.

Skinny Women Don't Stand a Chance!

Gain pounds of weight with New YEAST and IRON

Pleasant to take—Quick results—or pay nothing

You don't want to be underweight, nervous and always tired—an object of pity to your friends. Start IRONIZED YEAST now and put pounds of good flesh on those bony arms, hollow cheeks and scraggy limbs. See ugly lines give way to graceful curves. Feel a new vitality and healthy strength you haven't known for years.

How Yeast Builds Weight

IRONIZED YEAST is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial.

This yeast is treated with iron taken from fresh vegetables—spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it most effective—for iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this formula IRONIZED YEAST gives you results in half the time required by yeast and iron taken separately.

IRONIZED YEAST brings pounds of weight in astonishingly quick time. Letters say: "10 pounds gained in 3 weeks," "one full treatment added 5 pounds," "14 pounds and better health." The blood is toned up, too, because the iron adds strength and richness to the blood, clearing up the complexion and increasing your vitality. IRONIZED YEAST comes only in pleasant-tasting tablets in a handy bottle. Safe for everybody. Does not upset the stomach nor cause gas or bloating.

First treatment gives results—or no money

Ask the druggist now for a full course treatment. It will prove that you can gain many pounds, or your money will be refunded. If inconvenient to buy at the drug store, send $5.00 to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga. Desk 519-W.

CHAMPION TO HELP SELECT FOE

NEW YORK, March 14.—(INS.)—The problem of selecting Gene Tunney's next ring opponent, a problem which Tex Rickard and his aides were unable to settle yesterday, may be solved this week. The promoter will leave here tomorrow for Miami, Fla., for a conference with the heavyweight champion.

Tunney is on record with the assertion that he should be matched

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

THOUGH two star regulars and two capable substitutes will be lost to the Pitt basketball team for next season by graduation, there is enough high-grade new material in sight to assure that the local university will again be represented by a quintet far above the average. The four to be lost are Capt. Reed and Wrobleski of the regulars, Fisher, sub guard, and McMahon, sub-center, but in such remaining regulars as Hyatt, Zehfuss and Wunderlich, with Cohen, McGill and Sandburg, the hold-over substitutes, Coach Carlson will have the groundwork for a team that ought to be a worthy successor to the unbeaten crew of the season just ended.

PITT'S new timber, too, is more than ordinarily promising. For instance, there is Baker, of this season's freshman team, a great prospect from Nanticoke (Pa.) High School. In last Saturday night's freshman game at State College he

BOWLING and BILLIARDS

MEN bowlers will begin competition today in the annual tourney of the original Southern Duckpin Association, which began Monday on the Forward alleys with the ladies in action.

Some fine scores were turned in by the members of the fair sex in yesterday's competition, the crowning feat being the 432 turned in by Miss Anna Garbett in the singles. Miss Garbett rolled games of 131, 151 and 150 to pile up her high total.

The Climax Girls team was high in the team events, scoring a total of 1,949, with Miss Law turning in the best score. High single game honors went to Miss M. O'Brien, who scattered the maples for 201.

In the doubles, Miss Garbett and Miss Zebra were high, their 312 topping the second best score of 787 of Miller and Donahue.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS by HARRY KECK SPORTS EDITOR

GATHER 'round, children, and you shall hear the story of how the "wolves" of one of our most popular indoor sports are about to be slain, even as they were slain for the peace and happiness and profit of the Little Red Riding Hoods of another sport two full decades ago.

Hilary Wertz.

When the American Duckpin Congress announced, a few days ago, that it had evolved a new system of prize distribution for its first annual national tournament, to be rolled on the Haus alleys, North Side, April 9 to 21, inclusive, only mild interest was evinced by the natives. Since then, however, the Big Idea has burst full upon the bowling populace and resulted in a mad scramble almost resembling a gold rush to get in under the wire before the entries for the event close at midnight March 24.

THE reason? Thar's gold in them hills, Maggie. Gold. Real yaller-tinted gold merely waiting to be mined—and the ordinary guy with a pick and shovel has an even chance with the experienced prospector for the first time since the rolling and rollicking days of that early disciple of bowling, Rip Van Winkle.

For the first time, Mr. Average Bowler will figure in on the melon-cutting at the end of a tournament. The prize money will not be hogged by the big fellows at the top of the list, but will be distributed in such a way that all manner and grades of the bowling bug will have a chance to get back his or her entry fee and perhaps some more.

THE new plan has "made" the American Duckpin Congress tournament. Made it absolutely, to the extent that it is assured of an entry list beyond all dreams of its sponsors. Not less than 500 five-men and women teams will compete, whereas heretofore there never have been as many as 700 individuals in a duckpin tournamnt in this section. Years ago, when tenpins still were talked about hereabouts, they had more than 700 rollers in a few of those events, but never anything so astounding as the number of teams that will try to ruin the Haus alleys beyond repair.

The system that has brought all of this about is patterned after the method of distributing prizes that saved trapshooting as a sport. Some 20 years ago, the leading shots were bagging all of the prizes, leaving the little fellows to pay for their shooting. The little fellows finally got tired of shooting merely for the exercise and the sport appeared to be headed for what even then was known as the canine's kennels. At

New Castle High Five In School Final

By VERNON A. SWARTSEGER.

NEW CASTLE HIGH, defending W. P. I. A. L. basketball champion, won its way into the final of this year's tournament last night by defeating the stubborn Monessen High quint 26-16, in the Pitt Stadium. It led from the start and displayed an altogether superior brand of basketball to that exhibited by Monessen.

As a result, the Bridenbaugh outfit meets Duquesne on Friday night in the title clash.

New Castle was favored to beat Monessen last night, right enough, but it was figured that the upriver quintet would give the Lawrence Countians a pretty stiff battle. This it did, though New Castle jumped away to a four-point lead in the first period and held that advantage throughout the second.

Tony Ostrosky was the leading light in the Castle attack and play, the stumpy one caging five fine field goals.

In the third period, New Castle swept forward and piled up the lead that secured the eventual victory. Eight points were scored by the Bridenbaugh passers while the Ditty men were counting three.

Monessen played a long-shooting game almost throughout, which was effective in checking New Castle's advance to a certain extent early in the contest. Good passing, brainy team work and a good defense stood well in New Castle's stead.

The lineup:

New Castle (26)		Monessen (16)
Reiber	F.	Paul
Ostrosky	F.	Anderson
Alexander	C.	Parsons
Gilmore	G.	McGinnis
Gorsuch	G.	Feltman

Scores by periods:

	1	2	3	4	Total
New Castle	7	15	21	26
Monessen	5	9	12	16

Substitutions: New Castle: Richards, McClelland, Kelich, Thomas, Johnson; Monessen: Yeckerich, Stotterbeck, Hunsbarker, Kopack, Lipshock.

Field goals—Ostrosky 5, Alexander 3, Reiber 2, Gilmore, Cline, Paul 3, Carson 2, Anderson, Anderson.

Free throws—New Castle, 2 out of 6; Monessen, 2 out of 5.

Referee—Polster.
Umpire—Wolfe.

A. A. U. Handball Play Opens

WITH a fine field entered, play will get under way late today in the annual singles championship handball tournament of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. on the P. A. A. courts. Theos Manos, local attorney, will defend the crown. He represents the Downtown Y. M. C. A.

The semi-finals and finals will be played Saturday. The doubles tournament is scheduled for the last three days of next week.

DAVIES TO BE IN WINDUP

Another card of four eight-round bouts will be offered at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, Matchmaker Johnny Ray announced today.

Willie Davies, of Charleroi, will be matched with the best flyweight opponent obtainable for the main event. He may meet Luis Carpentero, the Filipino, of Toledo, who gave him a hard fight at McKeesport.

Bobby Richardson and Young Saylor will meet in the semi-final and Jack Barry and Mickey Solmen may box the second event.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

the darkest hour, one of the leading enthusiasts of the game came up with a brilliant idea. He was Jimmy Lewis. The plan was to split up the field in four equal divisions in the order in which they finished and pay off prizes in each class. He called this the Lewis class system. The trapshooters went for it as a duck takes to water—and they will tell you that it saved trapshooting and made it the big sport it is today. It took the racket out of the hands and control of the "wolves," as the big money winners were called, and gave it back to the common people.

HILARY E. WERTZ is a bowling alley owner in Dormont. He also is a bowling enthusiast and one of the prime movers in organizing the American Duckpin Congress and its tournament. Recently he was talking over the problems of bowling with a relative who is a trapshooter and he said he'd like to do something to help put over the A. D. C. tournament with a bang. The trapshooter slept on the thought and awakened with a start and the idea that what bowling tournaments needed was a Jimmy Lewis class system. He explained it to Hilary and Hilary did likewise to the directors of the A. D. C., and they thought it was a wow and adopted it, and behold, it is!

NOW here's how the class system works out in the tourney:

Say there are 500 teams of five bowlers each. That makes 2,500 individuals all paying their entrance fees. The total pool from this source will be something like $17,000. Of this sum 60 per cent, or a little better than $10,000, will be paid back to the contestants in prize money. This is about four times as much as any tournament in this part of the country ever has paid off, with the exception of the time, years ago, when the A. B. C. tenpin tournament was held here.

At the finish of the tourney, and not before, will the prize-winners be known, and here is how the little fellow will be protected. The entrants will be listed in the order in which they finish in the singles, doubles and five-men and five-women events and all-events. Then the totals will be divided by four, partitioning the competitors into equal classes.

With an even 500 five-men teams there would be 125 in each class for that event. In the event of 2,500 individual men bowlers, there would be 625 in each class in that event, etc. Then the pool for each event will be divided on this basis: Thirty-five per cent for Class A, 28 per cent for Class B, 21 per cent for Class C and 16 per cent for Class D.

The big fellow, or former wolf, who formerly copped all of the dough, isn't kicking, because, with the greatly increased entry list, his share of the spoils will be larger than it used to be with the small field donating fees, and the little fellow simply is tickled silly over the prospect of rolling for something more than the workout.

THERE probably will be about 25 prizes in each class. That means that, as the plan works out in theory, the first 25 in the first class will receive a cash reward. Then there will be no more prizes until the second division is reached, and there will be 25 more prizes there, and ditto in the third and fourth divisions. The winners in the third and fourth divisions, with ordinary scores, may receive more money than the fellow or team that is well down in the list of the first 25. Get the idea? A chance for everybody, a game and a gamble.

A trophy will be given the champion in each division of each event, and they will be known as Class A, B, C and D champions and will be the official titleholders of the land, since the A. B. C. is the governing body of the sport, and what it says is official 18. In the event of ties for the trophies, roll-offs will decide the winners. Ties for money prizes will be pooled and evenly divided.

UNDER the old system of awarding prizes, the teams or individuals could tell at once if they figured to be in the money and if they were outside they promptly lost all interest in the event. Under the new system, which dates back to Jimmy Lewis and his saving of the trapshooting game, everybody will be in the running until the last ball is rolled. Really, somebody ought to get patent rights on the idea and rent it out for affairs of this sort. It's too good a plan to be left lying around loose. Jimmy Lewis can't do it, because he's gone on to the happy hunting grounds; perhaps Hilary Wertz or the A. B. C. will consider the proposition.

HILARY WERTZ, by the way, is quite a bowler himself. More than a year ago he rolled a perfect game—a meager 300—in duckpins. He's all het up about the growth of duckpin bowling, and the prospects of the A. B. C. tourney.

"There are something like 70,000 duckpin bowlers in Western Pennsylvania," he said yesterday, "and heretofore the most who have entered any tournament have been about 1 per cent. The others figured they didn't have a chance and might just as well keep on bowling in their church or fraternal or office leagues. We're after the other 99 per cent, and we're getting many of them with this new system. You can't beat it. What do you thing of it?"

Think of it? I think I'll enter myself. First prize in Class D will just about buy me a new spring or summer outfit.

TOURNEY TO OPEN

The third annual Allegheny-Kiski Valley basketball tournament will swing into action tomorrow in the New Kensington High School gym. Twenty-four schools will strive for the championship. Trophies will be awarded for first, second, third and fourth places, together with a most valuable player award.

Busch Takes "Short Cut"

By LELAND C. LEWIS,
International News Service

ABOARD MOTOR CRUISER AMERICA, with Los Angeles-New York Racers, Beyond Kingman, Ariz., March 14.—C. C. Pyle's 120 "bunion derbyists" started to smile at those who said the Colorado River was the great divide as they forged on eastward toward the eleventh control, at Peach Springs, 52 miles away, today.

The rarified atmosphere of Arizona has proved a boon to the athletes who survived the rigors of Mojave Desert last week, and when the siren of the "America" sent them on their way all were imbued with a determination to carry on to the $25,000 pot of gold for the first prize winner at Yankee Stadium, New York.

Today the runners are moving upward toward the great Arizona plateau, where they will halt for the night at the waterhole of Peach Springs, an even mile high.

BUSCH PENALIZED

Referee Arthur Duffey passed a word of admonition to the runners today, in which he informed them they would be held to strict observance of the rules. This followed the penalizing of Billy Busch, of Pittsburgh, representing Boston, and Harry Rea, Long Beach, Cal., one hour each in elapsed time for deviating from the highway on the Oatman-Kingman lap. Judges reported that the pair of runners took a short cut at a horseshoe curve, cutting off considerable distance and thus enabled them to head off leaders for a time.

Arthur Newton, the Rhodesian rambler, took the lead on the 28.6-mile lap between Oatman and Kingman yesterday at the midway point and increased his lead to 6 hours and 38 minutes over Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla.

Roderick Ellsworth, Monongahela, Pa., finished the Tuesday lap in 7:09:30; elapsed time, 73:56:10.

Earle Dilks, New Castle, Pa., romped the lap in 5:09 flat; elapsed time, 73:14:35.

Following are the 15 leaders in the C. C. Pyle Marathon, after completing 245.7 miles from Los Angeles in 10 days. Time for the Tuesday lap, 28.6, between Oatman and Kingman is followed by elapsed time for the entire distance:

1.—Arthur Newton, Rhodesia, 4:03:00; 53:33:00.
2.—Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., 5:01:30; 49:11:32.
3.—Arne Soumines, Detroit, 4:21:30; 61:10:20.
4.—Ed Gardner, Seattle, 5:43:00; 61:22:26.
5.—John Cronick, Saskatoon, Canada, 4:54:00; 62:32:55.
6.—Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, 4:29:00; 63:11:16.
7.—Nestor Erickson, Portchester, N. Y., 5:14:30; 66:04:00.
8.—Giacomo Clarizio, Chicago, 5:01:30; 66:12:28.
9.—Voight Houfstater, Manistee, Mich., 5:28:00; 67:04:05.
10.—Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., Can., 5:29:30; 67:51:05.
11.—Jack Phillipson, Denver, 4:55:00; 68:15:05.

their officers marshalled the depressed troops in a desperate effort to check the onslaught of the carefree Yanigans.

The Hooligans have now matched the feat of the Yankees in trimming the first team four times in succession, and the Hinchman-J. Frazer combination will try hard to outstrip Babe Ruth and Company by making five straight this afternoon.

The high spirited second team hung a 9 to 4 black eye on their elders in yesterday's contest. The game was delayed about one hour on account of rain. But the regulation seven rounds were reeled off in plenty of time to whet the appetites of the Yans for losing sleep over the comparatively unimportant camp battles. But B. Dreyfuss and D. Bush would feel better if the first team showed a little more punch and general co-ordination. To date the Yearlings have showed up the Regulars in nearly every department of the game.

Practically every boy in the Hooligan lineup strutted his stuff in the first setback handed the veterans. Fred Brickell and Adam Comorosky opened a fine drive in the first round and second inning was a corker. Pete Scott and George Peery uncorked successive three-baggers, Coburn Jones followed with a double and Brickell connected for another hit.

The Yans scored five tallies in the first two rounds which was one more than the output credited the first team. The Hooligans "busted" through again in the third, the three tallies giving them a commanding lead.

Erwin Brame, promising right-hander from Jersey City, was a fly in the ointment for the regulars after the big fellow relieved Lefty Peery. Brame blanked the favored team on one hit on four interesting periods.

Roy Mahaffey and Walter Tauscher did the twirling for the Regulars.

All around, another big year seems to loom for Carlson and Pitt.

WUNDERLICH is eligible for one more year of varsity basketball at Pitt, and Hyatt and Zehfuss are eligible for two more years each.

In view of the fact that Wunderlich will be a senior next season, whereas Hyatt and Zehfuss will be only juniors, it is expected that Wunderlich will be elected captain of next season's team.

Whether the election of a captain will be held in connection with the banquet to be given to the team tomorrow night in the Schenley Hotel by the Pitt Y. M. C. A., or postponed until later, has not been announced.

ONE of the latest rumors from the Southland is that the New York National League club may try to make a deal for Al Mamaux, former Pirate pitcher and one-time resident of Dormont.

Al Mamaux.

Mamaux, now with Newark, N. J., in the International League, pitched the first five innings of an exhibition game against the Giants the other day, holding them to one run, and this, in connection with his record of 44 games won during the last two seasons, led New York critics to pronounce him a better pitcher in 1928 than he was when in the majors.

It is said that he has picked up a nice curve and a change of pace, and that age has brought him control and wisdom.

THE rumor adds that Newark would like to get one of McGraw's young catchers, and that the Giant pilot may be willing to throw in a brace of young flingers and perhaps an outfielder, to get Mamaux.

During the last World Series Mamaux told Pittsburgh friends that he did not desire to come back to the major leagues.

"I'd rather be the big flag on a little pole than a small flag on a big pole," he said.

THERE may be some room for debate as to who is the toughest or the fastest or the best "this" or "that" among the heavyweight fighters of today, but there is no doubt as to who is the ring's champion blunderer. Jack Sharkey gets ready to count him out of the game, he'll come back and make himself look like a world beater.

SHOOTS MATE FOR GOING OUT WITHOUT HER

With a bullet wound in the head, William Andersen, 40, of 136 State street, Wilmerding, today is in the McKeesport Hospital, while his wife, Mrs. Flora Anderson, 37, is being held in the Wilmerding Police Station as a result of the shooting. Police Chief James Magee, of Wilmerding, who questioned Mrs. Anderson, said that the woman had accused her husband of going out and leaving her alone nights.

"Yes—I'm going out," Andersen is declared to have told his wife when she remonstrated with him as he was about to leave home last night. A heated argument followed during which, police say, Mrs. Anderson went upstairs and returned with a revolver. The weapon crackled and Andersen fell wounded. Patrolmen Moody Champ and William Quinn were summoned and they arrested Mrs. Anderson.

Anderson is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company plant, East Pittsburgh.

Chief Magee said that Williams was divorced at Savannah, Ga., in 1910, after having been married three years. Mrs. Anderson has a married daughter, Mrs. Ralph Blakie, living near Newark, N. J.

EMPLOYES GET WOODS' STOCK

Woods, a brother of the donor, was made a trustee of stock holdings in the E. A. Woods company, under the Woods will.

The stock is not transferable, and can not be sold, except back to the company, but each recipient will have all the benefits of dividends. In the event of the death of the employee, the company will purchase from the estate the stock at book value.

5 DIE IN AUTO'S PLUNGE INTO SHALLOW CREEK

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

Much of Human Nature to Be Seen at Prize Fights

In Following the Bruisers' Actions The Crowd Gives Exhibit of Conditioned Stimulus

Can you bathe, shave and dress in six minutes? Dr. Dorsey in yesterday's chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings" in The Sun-Telegraph declared it to be possible for those who are in condition. It is a matter of habit; the automatism of the human machine. The difference between Chimpanzees and men, he showed, is that men have brains, the all-important thing.

Play the Beginning of Knowledge

CHAPTER XXXII.

I SMILE when you tickle me; I cannot help it, it is a reflex. If you smile back, I will learn to smile when you smile. The drive in life is hunger. The action in life is to secure food and mates to satisfy hunger. Play is preliminary action—trying out, testing the capacity of range of action. It differs from the reactions of adult life in that it lacks the consummation response or adjustment. The action has no ulterior motive.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

Play is not an instinct; nor is it unique in human beings or identical in the human race. It is a form of acquired behavior. The games I play as child or adult will be conditioned by my bents and especially by social environment. What is played, who plays it, how it is played, all depend on learned habits of individual response and can only be interpreted in terms of situations, stimulus, and response.

The stimulus back of play—whether of puppies, children, or adults—is a motor mechanism which was built for action, glows with action, and in childhood grows best by action.

Weeding the garden or picking potato bugs is action. But there are drawbacks. Repetition—same stimulus, same response; and no end in sight—there seem to be so many weeds, so many bugs; if they are to be cleared out, the pace must be kept up. That means that the impulse to respond to other stimuli that may rise and do keep rising up to beckon the child aside must be repressed.

Baseball and Mud Pies

Play is generally actions of several kinds at the same time. Even in a game of marbles a half-dozen different activities may function together. The difference between marbles and professional baseball is chiefly years; the men have their game better organized; are better players because more habituated to it, and stick closer to their game. But sometimes their game becomes lost in a fight with words, catcalls and pop bottles.

Margie making mud pies and mother making apple pies further illustrate the difference between play of children and of adults and between play and work. Mother's work ends when the pie leaves the oven. Margie may grow stale over her pie before she has made one, or she may go right on making pies until she uses up all the mud. Her impulse is for action rather than for consummation. She will stop when the impulse for mud-pie action is replaced by another with more pull. Such as: "Let's play dolls," or "Dinner is ready."

Impulse to action; gratification of that impulse; hang the consequence: of such is the play of children, the day-dreams and castles-in-Spain of adults.

It is of little consequence to Margie if her pie is dough or too big or too little for her pie pan. And of less consequence to Johnny when as Heap Big Injun he "scalps" Margie with a celluloid paper cutter. And if Margie plays the game she will pretend to be scalped, catch her "blood" in her apron and fall down "dead."

Play Begins Knowledge

What man tied to his job all day does not yearn now and then to be a Dick Deadeye, a Jesse James, or a Capt. Kidd? Boys can be. They rob, they hold up trains, they capture ships, they bury and dig up chests of gold. We come from a long line of freebooters. There is nothing in our inheritance which savors of factory, treadmill, or office stool. We must acquire these priceless habits, and often at the loss of our entire original inheritance, which included freedom to fight or run, and everlastingly to fool around.

The sheer joy of being alive, the supreme joy of action in the child! Watch a 4-year-old work off his surplus steam. Not only is every muscle of his body in action, but his face and his speech box are at work. It is as though his entire being were so sensitive to excitation that the slightest wind that blows excites him to new effort.

Why not? He has only just discovered the most wonderful, the most excitable, the most insatiable mechanism in the world: a growing human being, himself! That mechanism discovered, the boy or girl now sets out to discover the world, and does easier than later in life. Life's innate curiosity has not yet been crushed; nor has imagination, the capacity to make believe, yet keen killed by the "realities" that grown-ups cling to like shipwrecked mariners to a rotting spar in mid-ocean.

Play is the beginning of knowledge. Banging the rattle on the crib or getting a toe in one's mouth is an early lesson in wisdom.

Which means that there is no sharp line between playing Jesse James and being Jesse James. But the child who stops with a stick for a gun will bring down no bigger game in later years than he can kill with a day dream. Those of us who live only in hopes build only castles in our own air.

Stimulus and Response

The practical application is this: Two boys will pick more than twice as many potato bugs as one and pick them faster if a definite goal is set—a quart or a quarter. Still better results can be had by setting a phonograph nearby with a good rhythmic swing to it—say, the "Sambre et Meuse" or the "Washington Post March." Life hates monotony, but loves rhythm; in heartbeat, in intestinal contraction, in canoeing, in poetry, in music.

But do not expect the child to be like you through mere imitation. The child will smile when smiled at, laugh when others laugh, yell when others yell, look at what others are looking at, listen when others listen, run with or after or from others, and duck when others duck. One sheep over the fence, all over. Not a sound at night: one dog barks; in five minutes 50 dogs are yelping. We also applaud, hiss, whistle, yawn, light up, with the crowd. Stimulus and response. Your lighting up is stimulus for the same reaction on my part.

There is also a more direct conditioned stimulus. I cut my finger; it bleeds, it hurst; I wince. You cut your finger; I see blood, I wince. Watch the crowd at a prize-fight. They duck, they dodge, they "Ouch!" They are only less affected by the blows than the receivers, or only less jubilant than the man who delivered them. There is much human nature on exhibition at the prize ring and swimming hole.

ASK COURT BAR KLAN TESTIMONY

Suppression of depositions of David C. Stephenson, former leader of the Knights of the Klu Klux Klan in Indiana, and William H. Likins, former Uniontown publisher, has been asked by Attorney M. J. Hosack, Klan counsel. The action is a step in the suit brought by the Klan against five Western Pennsylvanians, and the counter suit of the five against the Klan, both listed for hearing in the Federal District Court on April 9.

The motion sets forth that the five defendants are seeking to get the depositions called "immaterial, hearsay, slanderous," upon the records for publicity. The depositions were obtained by Attorney Van A. Barrickman, one of the five defendants, also counsel in the action against the Klan.

A hearing on the motion will be held tomorrow, although Judge F. P. Schoonmaker remarked that no such deposition had yet been filed.

SLOT MACHINE CHEATER FINED

It will cost Victor Ulrick, 34, of 419 Ninth street, McKeesport, $1,000 for trying to get even with the slot machines which took $50 weekly of his pay. He counterfeited quarters, nickels and pennies and was arrested while trying to beat a chewing gum machine.

Officers found molds for the coins in his home, along with 54 quarters, a similar number of nickels and 30 pennies, all made out of lead, with the imprint on only one side.

Lectured on the seriousness of his crime, Ulrick was fined $1,000 and paroled for two years.

5 DROWNED IN AUTO'S PLUNGE

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 14. — (AP.) — Five persons were drowned in three feet of water when an automobile plunged over a culvert bridge into Coplay Creek at West Hokendauqua early today.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer, 35, and daughter, Olga, 8, of Eagle Point; Mike Golle, 37, of Coplay, and Mrs. Frank Eckert, 32, of West Coplay.

The tragedy wiped out the Meyer family, while Mrs. Eckert leaves a husband and 11 children, ranging in age from 8 months to 15 years. Golle is survived by a wife and six children. Mrs. Eckert's husband was the owner and driver of the car.

He was the only one to escape with his life. The party were on their way home from a visit to friends in Fullerton. A dense fog made driving extremely dangerous and Eckert declared he was proceeding very slowly. He said that his wife had just remarked to him that she could not see a thing ahead when the car plunged over the six-foot embankment.

Eckert owes his life to the fact that the door on his side of the machine was broken and he was able to get out quickly. Standing in the water up to his chest, he strove for half an hour to release his wife and the others in the car, but had to give up the struggle.

MURPHY MAY 'TELL PLENTY'

John Murphy, of 2528 Connecticut avenue, Dormont, assistant to E. S. McCullough, Chamber of Commerce "special industrial aide" in 1925, is prepared to give the Senate investigating committee interesting testimony regarding relations between the Chamber and the Pittsburgh Coal Company, he declared today. He said he expected to be called to Washington in the event that McCullough is subpenaed.

"I'm not saying anything now," said Murphy, "but if I'm called before the Senate committee I can tell them plenty. And if McCullough is called he can tell a story about the big 'fellows' that will blow the lid off the whole works."

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

THE Beet Growers' Association will likely do a little dancing in the streets with news that Allegheny county's two new parks are receiving applications for picnic dates. If the principal industry of Japan, as a wit once remarked, is serving tumblers to the American vaudeville stage, then beet growers must thrive on summer picnics. Have you ever seen a picnic basket that did not contain a jar of beets? They are as common to outings as lost children.

FEW reporters have made the strides in public life made by Alexander P. Moore, former Pittsburgh publisher. A reporter, a sporting editor, a dramatic critic, managing editor, publisher, ambassador to Spain, purchaser of two papers away from his home city, and recently appointed ambassador to Peru, Mr. Moore has traveled a long way since he used to collect news at the city hall or travel with the ball club.

NEWSPAPER work always has served as an avenue to service in public life. Such well-known figures in the life of Pittsburgh as James Francis Burke, Walter Christy, Joe Mackrell, Roy Schooley, W. M. Jacoby, Eugene Connolly started out as reporters. There are others still in the newspaper business who declined public office in favor of their own work.

* * *

HOWARD MAYBERRY, of East Liberty and Penn township, wants to know the benefits of annexation to Pittsburgh. It seems Penn township is contemplating becoming a part of Greater Pittsburgh.

It is one of those affairs that has the well-known two sides.

and after watching a campaign in our neighborhood it appears to us that people seem to be born either annexationists or anti-annexationists.

SPEAKING only for ourselves, annexation seems to be sound. It always has seemed a little galling here that cities, by annexation, have outstripped Pittsburgh in the census figures, yet, if the population of our metropolitan area went into the census records, Pittsburgh would be far ahead of so-called rivals.

IT IS a question that cannot be rushed in any community considering the step. Agitation in places recently annexed to Pittsburgh started as long ago as 20 years. For instance, we recall in a public meeting of 15 years ago when a dare-devil speaker stood his ground amid hoots and cat-calls because he dared voice annexation sentiment. Yet the same men who tried to railroad the agitator later came around to his viewpoint and voiced the arguments which they once decried.

SO IF Mr. Mayberry is asking for advice here we would respectfully suggest that in an intelligent manner the advantages and disadvantages of annexation be set forth for the Penn township voters. If you give them enough information, i. e., light, the people will find their way as Mr. Daante remarked.

Jerry sees Saxon kiss Tess Willi, but still loves him and refuses to marry Heine Ross. Saxon finds her sketching and they declare their love. Saxon's uncle sends him abroad to finish his studies. Tess Willi also goes; Jerry is jealous. No letters from Saxon, she cables; he writes that he has been ill. Heine again declares his love for her and begs her to let him tell her something. Jerry earns $150 for making panels for an exclusive shop. Saxon is home and he and Jerry find happiness in each others company. They attend a party in John Iver's studio and Jerry learns much.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

NOT handsome, and certainly not pretty. Yet, to Jerry, extremely attractive, Sylvia had eyebrows that met over her nose and went slanting off towards her temples. Very black eyebrows. And sea-gray eyes usually squinted together. Because of this, when she opened them, as she infrequently did, one received a shock. They were such clear, delightful, friendly eyes. They seemed to say naively: "I'm an awfully nice person. Take a little trouble and find me out!"

Girls heeded this lure of Sylvia's. Men didn't. For Sylvia was too intelligent and too honest to go in for the tricks that pass as sex appeal, even with clever men. She had too much humor and too much self-esteem. She would have felt contempt for the men she could delude. She knew her inner fires and that they were fine. She felt a scorn for men because they were so easily hoodwinked by externals and counterfeits.

Yet Sylvia adored Inga. And Inga was one of those girls who bloom in the presence of the male.

Said Inga: "I'm glad I was born in 1900 instead of 1910. In my prime the lavendar touch was still unusual enough to be intriguing. And men wondered whether they could or couldn't. The certainty of the chase today must make it awfully flat and boresome to the sporty hunter.

"Come John and play. The world grows melancholy. I'm moved to song."

But John went on cramming his mouth with cinnamon toast and insisting on argument. They were all talking at once—each with a separate theory and all wild-eyed because no one would listen.

"The part that infuriates me," Sylvia now shouted above the din, "is the pitiful display of the herd instinct.

"These kids of 16"—Sylvia was 23, "think they're rebelling. They're not! They're a pack of shabby imitators screaming [illegible] yourself!" and not having the remotest idea what their real self is. They can't possibly all like the foul gin they're drinking. Surely some of them must despise being mauled. But they go in for it because it's the fashion just as fainting and hoop-skirts were the fashion of their despised grandmothers.

"If there was a real rebel among this youngest generation, she'd wear her skin white and her eyelashes unpainted. And she'd cut loose from all this SEXATION and say prayers on the top of Twin Peaks. That would be a real rebel for you!"

"For God's sake, be your age, Sylvia, and shut up! You're suffering from unsatisfied yearnings and you're jealous. It doesn't take a complex expert to see that!"

Inga hurling this cheerfully, came gliding to Sylvia's side and kissed her lightly.

"I want to dance! Whistle for me, Jerry. Oh, my storm-tossed soul—who taught you that!" And Jerry, pursing her lips, filled the room with a wild pathetic tune.

Inga danced with the spirit of a pagan nymph. She was an odd girl with a dazzling pink and white skin, a turned-up nose and wide, vivid, joyous mouth. She had thick red hair and extraordinary black eyes that were now languid and dream-haunted.

In a moment this mood vanished. She became raucous—a coon shouter doing the "Black Bottom"—stamping and shrugging—gleefully bold and inviting.

John, moving as though in answer to Inga's taunt and fire, took his place at the piano. He played. In a moment Inga swung herself to the top of the big, square box and sitting there with her back to John, sang delicately, softly—as though to him alone.

The room was filled with shadows made mysterious by the colors of unfinished canvases on the walls. Sylvia stood before a bookcase restlessly turning pages of book after book.

"She feels it, too," thought Jerry, terribly moved by this soft, flame-lit song of Inga's and by the deeps of her husky, passion-stirred voice.

Across the room she saw Saxon. He was standing before a painting John was doing—trees blowing in a storm. The jaunty look was gone from his face. It might have been the shadows that made him so excessively pale.

He came moving over to Jerry, pressed her hand on the table: "It's getting late—we better go."

"Yes," said Jerry nodding. She was thinking of Inga, who was in love with John. Wondering of Inga.

They went down the rattly old stairs into the clear summer evening. And silently, because both were filled with thoughts, started walking northward along Montgomery up hills as steep as walls.

They circled around to the just completed esplanade crowning the old Pioneer Park. They seated on the stone bulkhead and looked out to the Golden Gate where the sun was just setting.

Said Jerry: "John is a glorious tramp, isn't he? Last spring it was a ramble all over France. And now in this heavenly Indian summer it's this excursion into the Tuolumne meadows."

"Yes, but tramping is his vocation. He'll be working and thinking and storing up impressions every moment of the time."

But Jerry went on dreamily: "I saw moving pictures of those meadows last New Year's when we were in Yosemite. It's the most beautiful country in the universe. Oh, the flowers—and the sound of the name—Tuolumne meadows—sheer music, isn't it?"

Then abruptly, voicing the unrest of her heart: "How will John like traveling alone after his spring promenade de joie?"

"Others will be along—Rod, I believe. And Inga."

"Inga!" Jerry grew pale. "Is Inga going with John?"

CHAPTER XX.

THEY were alone here on the hilltop. Below them, on the sheer cliffs, like bird-cages in a hanging garden, were five or six small, slant-roofed houses. The little houses clung miraculously to the slope there in the shadow of the wistful eucalyptus trees.

The sun was gone; the sky abloom with fuchsias—royal fuchsias that began now to drop in glowing masses on the islands and the mountain tops.

Jerry looked down the quarry, chopped in a perpendicular wall, 400 feet to the street below. A sense of danger excited her.

"Ah—so Inga is going with John?"

"Isn't she? Why, I thought you knew. I thought everyone knew. It's quite obvious that she's gone on John."

A ripple of soft, taunting laughter flung in Saxon's face. "You can be gone on a person without running away with him!"

"Not Inga."

She grew silent, folding her arms moodily on the stone. "What became of Antoinette? Was she broken-hearted when John left her?"

"She left him. Or, rather, she was summoned home and married to a very rich and respectable French banker."

"I thought she and John were wild about each other!"

"They were. But in France, marriage is one thing and love another. This marriage was extremely desirable from the family standpoint. Antoinette knew it was inevitable . . . sooner or later."

"So she took her love first?" Jerry closed her eyes and drew a smothered, excited breath. "At least, she's sure of something."

She pictured that spring-time ramble of John and the vivid French girl he loved—the girl who was like herself with lavender eyes, as John called them, and blue-black hair.

Hotly, the young, singing mouth stormed: "She was right! What had Antoinette to gain by denial? They would have married her anyway, and she would have lost the one season of living—lost the one glowing superlative experience she may ever know.

"And 20 or 40 years hence they would have buried another mortal who was born and died, but never had the courage to LIVE!"

"Jerry!" His face white, tense, staring into hers, eyes warm and startled: "Jerry—"

She gazed back, mute, oblivious. The tumult went on in her thought. "That's one way to solve Life. High-hat it! Why not? They double-crossed us when they put in the one body a mind that calculates and senses that clamor. It must have been a god of dissension who thought up this grand little house divided against itself—the human experiment."

Her lips parted, a dangerous fire in her eyes.

"Oh, Jerry—Jerry, why!" He took her two palms, pressed them burningly in his, fired by her look and the sweet torment of her nearness.

Then suddenly, hoarsely: "Are you taunting me for that mad letter I wrote?"

"Why, no! Was I not merely remarking that Antoinette was right? She chose wisely. And whatever happens now, she's not been cheated!"

She sighed and leaned, listless, against the bulkhead.

Said Saxon, very quiet: "Right—yes, since Antoinette was lucky enough to have chosen John. With some one else he might have been many things besides a joyous memory to recall her adventure."

"Well, Papa!"

I mean you ACtually never REALize how TERribly DUMB men are until you can sort of LOOK at them in a kind of a deTACHED WAY the way you sort of can when you don't have a DATE with a man every night, my dear, and are sort of imPROVing your MIND with a BOOK on some inTRIguing SUBject discussing about YOGi philOSophy or something terribly HIGHbrow like that, do you know what I mean? Well, ANYways, my dear, I'm SIMply disGUSted with ARab and NOIsy at this point because I mean I HONestly never REALized before how terribly SORdid they are in their iDEAS, my dear, because I mean they HONestly spend their entire time just ROARing round among the WOMen and NECKing ev'ry girl who gives them the glad EYE and EAGer LIP! Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" — By Adele Garrison

In Sudden Agitation the Great Producer Crushes a Water Goblet in His Hand

AT some time in his checkered career Philip Veritzen must have practiced juggling, I told myself whimsically, for there was no other way in which I could account for the deftness with which he seized the water goblet, the stem of which had just snapped in his hand, and kept its contents from spilling.

"I am so sorry," he said to me, with perfect poise and just the correct inflection of contrition.

"I am sorry for your inconvenience," I returned. "I will have another glass for you directly."

Katie was at his elbow with a fresh glass before I had finished speaking, and unobtrusively took the water-filled bowl of the goblet from his hand and the snapped stem from the table. The incident was closed as far as oral comment was concerned, but my imagination went soaring into fantastic realms, stimulated by a quick glance which Lillian flashed at me. I realized that she too had seen the little incident and that her conjectures concerning it were traveling along the same lines as my own.

For I knew that the snapped glass stem was the result of no ordinary accident. Only some surprising unexpected emotion could have intercepted itself in that subconscious tightening of the great producer's fingers upon the fragile stem of the goblet. Yet my next furtive glance at him almost made me forget my own poise. For instead of the signs of some repressed deep emotion which my imagination led me to seek in his face, I saw his eyes dancing with amusement which had no relation I was sure to the perfunctory sentences he was at that moment exchanging with Katherine.

The mirthful look did not leave his eyes, and though I guessed that my imagination was "working overtime," as Dicky used to tell me, yet I was sure that his amusement was intensified whenever he glanced at Miss Lincoln.

Those glances were far less frequent, however, since the incident of the broken goblet. It was as if comprehension of a puzzle suddenly had come to him, and he had no further need to study it.

Unobtrusively, without making her conspicuous, he turned his attention to Mary Harrison seated at his right, and during the remainder of the dinner kept her so engaged that she had very little opportunity to speak to Noel, on her other side. The young violinist was not neglected, however, for Eleanor Lincoln, once released from the elder Veritzen's impressive attentions, lost no time in engaging the shy younger one in conversation which subtly excluded every one else at the table.

Young Mr. Jackson, at her left hand, did not appear to mind her desertion of him as long as he could look at Mary Harrison across the table from him. Lillian took him under her conversational wing, but it was plainly to be seen that in his estimation there was but one face worth looking at in the whole circle of guests, and that the loyal, mutinous one of Mary Harrison.

I had a sudden intuitive feeling as of hearing bells suddenly becoming jangled, discordant, and the feeling was intensified as I caught the somber, bewildered resentfulness in Noel Veritzen's face. I was glad indeed when the time came for us to leave the table and go to the veranda where I had instructed Katie to serve our coffee. But it was with mounting excitement that I heard Lillian's voice low, but trenchant with meaning as we stood together for a second or two out of earshot of the others.

"Pipe Phil," she said. "He's swallowed the canary all right, but why? It's the identity of the bird that's mizzling me."

You Can't Tell How White Your Teeth Are

To see, remove the dingy film that clouds them

A FILM coat makes teeth lustreless and dull. That is what makes people think their teeth are naturally "off color." When you remove it the new way, teeth take on a brilliance that amazes. Gums grow firm and coral pink.

Here is a simple test that shows what the new way can do for you.

Stars of the stage and screen have made this test by scores. It has shown them a most important beauty aid.

This new way in tooth and gum care removes the dingy film that clouds your teeth. A film that absorbs discolorations.

Just run your tongue across your teeth. And you will feel that film. It is the great enemy of pretty teeth and healthy gums.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It forms a breeding place for germs. And germs, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Ordinary brushing fails in successfully removing film. Under film are the clear, whiter teeth you envy.

Now modern science has perfected an effective film combatant called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film, then removes it. It firms and protects gums, beautifies teeth quickly and correctly.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Fascinating Outings of Others Cause Spirit of Unrest Among Pittsburgh Stay-at-Homes

STAYING in town wouldn't be half bad, would it, if it weren't that one is always hearing about this one and that one setting out on some fascinating excursion? In listening and discussing the travel plans of other folks, though, I suppose we do a great deal of vicarious globe trotting.

Of those who have been "going and coming" ever since the holiday season ended, no group has had as varied experience, I believe, as the debutantes of this year. There isn't a stay-at-home in the whole lot! That's what it is, I suppose, to be young.

There's that attractive bud, Virginia Louise Johnston, daughter of the Charles Howard Johnstons of Beechwood boulevard, who came out, of course you will recall, in the autumn, and attended many a debutante affair all through the season. Virginia left last week for Washington, D. C., where she is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wilson Kennedy Ray. Mrs. Ray is the former Elizabeth Close Johnston, who by the way, aided her sister and mother in receiving at Virginia's debut.

Later in the month Virginia will leave for Providence, Rhode Island. While she is in New England she will attend that affair so popular with the younger set—the junior prom at Brown University.

Another member of the younger set has left for the East—Virginia Goldsbury of Sewickley. She went to New York on Sunday to spend a fortnight. I saw Virginia at just about every dance popular with the younger "crowd" all through the season, and at many a benefit, too. At the Aero Club ball, I recall, she made a fetching cigaret girl.

* * *

Mrs. Jerome Hill, who usually divides her time nowadays between Pittsburgh and New York, is now in Aiken, South Carolina. There she is being much entertained. On Tuesday she was a luncheon guest at an affair given at the exclusive Wilcox Inn.

Sports of all kinds interest the winter colony at Aiken—everything from the customary golf to horse races and shooting matches. The Aiken Gun Club events are starting this week, and, as usual, are attracting many from nearby wintering places. That inveterate sportsman, Elwn M. Byers, of Pittsburgh, arrived in Aiken Tuesday for the shooting, after having been active in the sports and social life of Palm Beach.

* * *

Mrs. Thomas Clifton Jenkins, who has been in Palm Beach for the past month, arrived in New York, where she is staying at the Plaza.

New York has always had a great fascination for Pittsburghers, who think nothing of "running over" for a few days. Among those who are varying the monotony of the lenten season with a visit to Gotham are Dr. and Mrs. Alexander C. Blair.

* * *

Perhaps you have been thinking that at last I have forgotten Palm Beach. I must say just a few words about that gay winter society, for the folks down there do such unusual things. For example, at the dinner dance the Joseph Urbans gave last night in the Oasis Club, a match hunt was a feature of the entertainment. For the dinner, the guests were seated in the patio with candles helping the southern moon in lighting the scene. And over the dancing floor and the tables was a canopy of gay lanterns. Among the guests were the James Francis Burkes and the Lawrence Copley Thaws.

William Callery went to New York early in the week to meet Mrs. Callery, who has been stopping at the Berkshire.

April 18 is the date chosen by Miss Martha Jane Hathaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Hathaway, of Westmoreland street, for her marriage to William T. Dean, of South Hills, Va.

NAB DRY CHAUFFEUR IN $150 SHAKEDOWN

King Johnson, 53, Negro chauffeur for the prohibition department, turned prohibition agent and now is in jail. He is said to have posed as a prohibition agent and tried to shakedown a Negro political club at 6297 Frankstown avenue on Monday. He asked for $150, a Department of Justice agent claimed in making out a charge of impersonating a prohibition officer.

TOWNSHIPS PRAISE OWN GOVERNMENT

Pennsylvania first-class townships, many of them with greater populations than flourishing third-class cities, are represented in Pittsburgh today at the third annual convention of the State Association of Township Commissioners in session at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. The meeting will continue until Friday and more than 100 delegates registered are considering public works, fire protection, sanitation, public safety and taxation.

Declaring their loyalty to the townships, "cradles of democracy" in New England and Pennsylvania in the days of the colonies, the delegates praised their compact governments today as superior to the intricate political machinery in modern municipalities. It was asserted that "self government still finds its best expression in small units" and the association deplored "the abrogation of township privileges to the counties."

In the state there are 58 first-class townships and 24 of these are in Allegheny county. The largest is Upper Darby township, Delaware county, with 55,000 population. The smallest is Leet township, this county, with only 100 inhabitants. Allegheny county's most populous township is Mifflin with 18,000 people. One of the richest and most rapidly growing townships is Mt. Lebanon in this county.

Dr. Thomas Harrison Reed, professor of political science of the University of Michigan, spoke today. William E. Armstrong, of Baldwin township, president of the association, presided. Other officers are: Vice presidents, Charles F. Mebus, Montgomery county; Alexander Stevenson, Butler county, and Arthur Wright, Luzerne county; secretary-treasurer, M. B. Black, Lebanon; chairman of the legislative committee, Andrew Macdonald, Montgomery.

At a banquet in the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Mayor Charles H. Kline and Sergt. Alvin York will be among the speakers.

NEW CONSTABLE FOR MT. LEBANON

The increase in automobile traffic and violations of the automobile laws in Mt. Lebanon make necessary the appointment of a deputy constable, Justice of the Peace E. B. Bishop and Constable C. C. Baldwin so informed Judge Joseph M. Swearingen yesterday in Quarter Sessions Court. On their recommendation, Albert D. Yost, 30, of 211 Barth avenue, Mt. Lebanon, was appointed.

UNION MINERS QUIT RELIEF BODY

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., March 14.—Charging that members of the United Mine Workers' relief committee of the Allegheny Valley were working in the interest of the Pennsylvania and Ohio Relief Committee, an alleged Communistic organization, delegates to the Allegheny Valley U. M. W. convention here late yesterday severed relations with the committee and formed a relief organization of their own.

John McFall, of New Kensington; Hughie Haggerty, of Springdale, and Robert Stronach, of Harmarville, members of the Allegheny Valley committee, were ordered to relinquish their United Mine Workers' credentials and Frank Hefferly, international representative for the union, was placed in complete charge of relief for the district. Plans were made for an intensive relief campaign to be sponsored by the United Mine Workers, and Hefferly was authorized to send solicitors to nearby cities and towns. A large hall in New Kensington is being fitted up as the official relief station for the union.

Herman's mother is ill and his presence is required at the home, the brother said.

MAKE "MOVIE" OF MINE WAR SLAYING

Motion pictures taken of nine youths, acting the parts they confessed to playing in the murder of Michael Yarsavage, 42, of Nant-y-Glo, at Rural Ridge on March 5, were shown in county detective headquarters today. The film, according to Detective Chief George W. Murren, will be used at the trial of the alleged murderers.

The picture is the first of its kind ever taken in Allegheny county. Among those who witnessed the test showing were District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and Assistant District Attorney Andrew Park.

Yarsavage, mistaken for a non-union coal miner, is said to have been attacked and beaten with fence pailings by the nine youths, union sympathizers, who were out looking for non-union strikebreakers.

SUSPECT HELD IN ACCIDENT

Struck by a "hit and run" motorist in DeSota street near his home last midnight, Harry Barbin, 73, of 209 DeSota street, was injured seriously. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital where it was said he probably had been injured internally. Two hours later city detectives arrested F. L. Johnson, 31, of 148 Bausman street, Mt. Oliver, as the driver of the machine. Johnson denied his machine hit the man. Detectives say a witness to the accident secured the license number of the machine.

HILL DISTRICT FIRE CAUSES $500 LOSS

City Blameless for a Day

NEW YORK, was virtually a blameless city for a period of 24 hours on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. Not a prisoner was brought in, and so for the first Christmas in about 24 years the day passed without a blemish.

Toll Taken by Nature for Wrong Living

WHAT is your most common fault? Temper, late hours, strong drink, over-eating—what is your pet bad habit?

DR. COPELAND

Pretty soon you will be 50 years of age. Can you expect to do at 50 everything you did so easily at 30?

You should observe very little difference in all your powers. But, unfortunately, our manner of living is such that the average man has failed a good deal at 50.

The average person of 50 cannot drive a car with the same alertness and nervous response that he did at 40. But with the right sort of care of the body, there will be almost as great efficiency even at 60, as in early life.

When I speak of "care of the body," I refer to the every-day, day in and day out, care of the body. You cannot care for the body six days out of every week and abuse it on the seventh, as regularly as the seventh day arrives—you cannot perform this way and not expect to pay the fiddler.

You may not be interested now, but the day will come when you will hate the time you began to let down on good habits and right living. You can't eat your cake and have it, too. Unless you refrain from self-indulgence, you are sure to suffer in consequence.

Nature is a patient, indulgent, considerate master. But there comes a time when Nature rebels. She will overlook an occasional misstep, but when there is persistent and every-day failure to walk in the middle of the road, there is sure to be trouble.

Appetite is almost irresistible. Just because we want a thing, yearn for it and can't resist the urge to take it, is the reason why so many lives are broken. If they are not broken, they are impaired in their quality.

Somewhere the other day I read that the "style of life is fixed at the age of four." I am not quite convinced that it is fixed at so early an age. There can be no doubt, I am quite sure, that the first 10 years will determine the habits which will influence all the rest of life.

I made an application of this thought to our eating habits, saying that our appetites for foods are determined by what we practice in youth. A reader in Detroit wrote to say she disagreed with my conclusion. She said she eats lots of cake and candy now, because when she was a little girl and lived with her grandmother, she was not permitted to have sweet things. "I am making up for that deprivation now," she writes.

I can't blame the Detroit lady, but I am sure she will agree that she was influenced by her grandmother's force of character, at least. The dear old lady "just wouldn't" let the child eat sweets. Now the granddaughter just will do as she pleases!

If you indulge your appetites from your youth up, you will pay the penalty by the time you are 50. In my opinion, this is an almost self-evident truth.

Drill your children in the exercise of good habits. Make it clear to them why the things you insist upon are good. In the long run such instruction will bear fruit in good health and long life.

Fay King Gives Three Easy Rules for Girls

By FAY KING

EVERY girl who wishes to get along well in life should bear in mind three qualities: BE GRACEFUL, BE QUIET, BE PLEASANT.

With these three qualities she may overcome much.

It won't matter whether she is beautiful, she will be preferred before those who are more efficient but less affable and dependable, and she will make her lot in life more pleasant, whatever it may be.

By being graceful, she will tread lightly. She will do her work with a minimum of gesture and of commotion.

By being quiet, she will not disturb others. It doesn't matter what her limitations of subject matter may be or whether she speaks pure English or slang, so long as it is done in a quiet, pleasant, undisturbing tone of voice.

The girl who raises her voice in enthusiasm or anger is bound to lose her poise and often her point.

For those who are disturbed are not sympathetic, and the noise she makes often diminishes the justice of her cause.

Being pleasant costs nothing, and is probably the greatest asset that a girl can have, whether she moves in the social or the business world.

A pleasant attitude is always a responsive one.

The one who is pleasant is always mistress of the situation.

A pleasant expression and a pleasant manner does not need words.

Being pleasant is the diplomacy of every-day life.

One does not need to be brilliant, if she is pleasant.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

WHEN MAN IS THE GREAT LOVER

AT WHAT age does a man make the most attractive lover?

Will Durant, famous writer, declares that no man over thirty is capable of the full flame of love.

* * *

Is THAT so? Then, I can only repeat that they are all wonderful ACTORS! For in these days, if you want to find a man who is an artist at ardent love-making, you will have to look for one in the thrilling thirties or the flaming forties.

HELEN ROWLAND

Up to twenty-five, a boy is so filled with self-love that all a girl gets from him is what spills over. All he wants of a woman is somebody to help him love himself. All he knows of the fine art of love-making is what he has learned at petting-parties, which is equivalent to learning table manners at a cafeteria.

After forty-nine, he is usually wedded to his business, his golf, his comfort, his money or his hobbies—and any woman in his life is merely a co-respondent. He is inclined to be cynical, blase and sentimentally fly-blown.

* * *

But from thirty to forty—and sometimes to fifty—a man's heart is ripe and mellow, his conceit and vanity have been reduced by life's hard knocks, and his emotions and sentiments have blossomed and sweetened, and are not yet beginning to wither or decay. Then, if ever, is he ripe for love!

* * *

After fifty, he may love; but he neither falls, dives nor plunges into it. He may lose his balance—but he does not lose his head or his sense of self-preservation.

* * *

But at thirty-five or forty a man falls in love easily, naturally and gracefully.

* * *

His head is steady—but his heart has not yet run down.

He still has some of his beautiful ideals—but he has lost most of his foolish illusions. He has "learned about women"—but they are not yet an old story.

* * *

Then, if ever, is he the Ideal Lover—with all the ardor of youth and all the subtlety and polish of experience! Then is he the "Great Lover!"

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Thursday, March 15

The king is he who after fierce defeat can up and fight again.—L. Ma.

THIS day may be memorable for some sudden upheaval or visitation which may have radical and far-reaching results. It is quite probable that this commotion may have a personal rather than a business instigation, although a new venture or undertaking of an uncommon nature may be the impelling force. The irregular, unusual or unorthodox dominates by lunar and mutual direction.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of sudden change and disintegration, which may involve a decided change in environment as well as in the interests generally. New affiliations, personal as well as business, are seen and by skilful management, foresight and tact, they may be turned to advantage.

A child born on this day may have singular faculties or unusual talents, winning through tact, diplomacy or rare ingenuity or skill.

NEURITIS ALMOST MADE HER SCREAM

Pittsburgh Lady Also Had Other Ailments: Ten Herbs Gave Blessed Relief.

"I was in a bad condition before I used Ten Herbs," was the statement of Mrs. R. Huch, 1416 Page Street, N. S., Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh.

MRS. R. HUCH

where he is daily demonstrating this popular medicine. "I had neuritis in my shoulders, and at times I would almost scream with pain," Mrs. Huch continued. "My liver was lazy, causing dizzy spells, and my kidneys were out of order, as I had pains across my back.

"I had to be very careful what I ate, as my food did not digest properly. I would bloat with gas, which would work up around my heart and cause it to palpitate. The gas was worse at night, and at times would cause smothering spells, which on several occasions gave me quite a scare. I was also troubled with constipation.

"I know that statements in the papers about Ten Herbs are true, as your medicine has done me a world of good. Those terrible neuritis pains are gone from my shoulders. I enjoy my meals now without fear of awful misery afterwards. I am no longer troubled with gas, bloating, palpitation of heart, or that smothered feeling in my chest. My bowels are regular, and my liver and kidneys seem to be working properly. Dizzy spells and pains across my back have disappeared, and my circulation has improved. I have new strength and ambition, and feel better in every way, so I gladly endorse Ten Herbs to the public."

Many local men and women make similar claims for Ten Herbs. They say it benefits and invigorates the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, and has a cleansing, soothing, correcting effect on the entire system.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of good water.

Wild Speculative Orgy In Wall Street Condemned

—By B. C. FORBES—

WALL STREET yesterday carried its gambling orgy to lengths without parallel.

In two days this week transactions on the New York Stock Exchange have exceeded $775,000,000, figuring the stocks at $100 par value. This breaks all records.

The greatest sensation came at the opening yesterday when 25,000 shares of Radio Corporation of America sold at $160, an overnight rise of 21½. Apparently, one or more powerful shorts had been closed out at a terrific loss.

In almost as many minutes Radio dropped 20 points, representing a shrinkage in the total market value of more than $23,000,000. The overnight gain was equivalent to almost $25,000,000.

The business conduct committee of the Stock Exchange promptly ordered brokers to submit complete data of their holdings, borrowings and dealings in the stock, the cry of "corner" having been raised—probably without justification.

The turnover in Radio shares in the last week has exceeded the total number outstanding (1,155,000) by several hundred thousand shares. The stock rose $10 on Friday, $13 on Saturday, $18 on Monday and, after opening at $160, closed last night at $146, a net gain of $7.50, a rise of nearly $50 a share in four business days.

These eight stocks accounted for more than 1,247,000 of the shares dealt in yesterday: American Linseed, General Electric, Gold Dust Corporation, Hudson Motors, International Nickel, Radio Corporation, U. S. Steel. The whole market closed nervously.

On Monday, when the 2,800,000 turnover broke all records, five stocks accounted for transactions exceeding 1,000,000 shares—Radio, U. S. Steel, International Nickel, General Electric, General Motors. The last-named stock expanded in quoted value $250,000,000 in one week.

It is very noticeable—and significant—that the great majority of stocks are relatively neglected.

EXTREMELY regrettable are these wild ongoings, although this truth may not be generally realized until the securities fall back to earth with a thud. At the moment, the New York Stock Exchange has become a mammoth Monte Carlo. Gamblers, intoxicated by successful operations, and given ready access to unlimited millions of cheap money, have taken possession and are indulging in a speculative orgy never matched in the stock market's history.

MILLIONAIRE gamblers are concentrating their fireworks on a handful of stocks. President Harbord of the Radio Corporation and responsible executives of other companies involved declared emphatically that there have been no new developments justifying the stock market's jamboree. They deprecate the reckless gambling exhibitions. But, of course, they are powerless.

It is very manifest that wealthy gamblers have been indulging in short selling on an abnormal scale. But all past experience warrants the assumption that a good many small investors have been drawn into the buying side of the market, especially in its latest and most sensational stages.

WHILE stocks are being forced higher and higher, Wall Street receives no condemnation from the public. But let the market collapse, as it did in February-March two years ago, and howls arise all over the country. Wall Street is then sweepingly condemned as a gambling hell. The New York Stock Exchange is maligned as an iniquitous institution maintained to fleece the public. Clamor for punitive laws arises.

The net result is to arouse afresh throughout the country hostility not only to Wall Street but to New York and our whole financial machinery.

THAT gamblers have abused the orderly, legitimate functions of the country's greatest security market is starkly manifest. It is easier to draw attention to the evil than to stop it. The Federal Reserve Bank authorities plainly intimated weeks ago that the unprecedented borrowing of funds for stock market purposes should be curtailed. The raising of the rediscount rate from 3½ to 4 per cent was intended to effect that end. In the past such official action would have been sufficient to call a halt upon unbridled speculation.

But the gamblers have chosen to flout the Federal Reserve authorities. And bankers, apparently, have not shut down on their speculative borrowings, a subject on which we will doubtless hear more later.

Now, it can be taken for granted that the authorities will not spinelessly admit defeat, that they will not sit back resignedly and allow Wall Street's wild ongoings to continue without making fresh efforts to check them.

Then what?

ORGIES usually end in headaches.

SEVENTEENTH DIVIDEND

RADIO REGAINS EARLY LOSS; RISES

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP.)—Speculators for the advance regained control of the price movement in today's stock market after an early flurry of selling which followed the opening break of 8 a share in Radio. Radio made up its loss before the end of the first hour and was selling 3 points above yesterday's final quotation by early afternoon, although the turn-over in that and other stocks showed a marked reduction in volume.

While the market has been paying little attention of late to outside news developments, the resumption of dividends on Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies preferred, and the declaration of an extra dividend of 40 cents on Devoe & Reynolds were regarded as bullish, although the former stock broke 6 points on the traditional "selling on the good news." Call money renewed at 4½ per cent despite the heavy demands for currency in connection with the two billion turnover of funds tomorrow.

Although the reports of an agreement on eastern trunk line consolidations was characterized by bankers as premature, railroad stocks assumed increasing importance in the market. Delaware and Hudson jumped 6 points, Lehigh Valley 5⅜, Wabash 4⅜ and Chesapeake and Ohio, Lackawanna, Reading, Missouri Pacific and a few others advanced 3 points or more. Southern Railway, Mobile and Ohio certificates broke 10¼ points to 119⅜.

American Linseed, in which a large short interest is reported to have been locked in, extended its gain to nearly 12 points by touching a new high record at 106. Hudson ran up 7 points to a new peak at 97½, and Vanadium Steel recorded a similar gain. General Cable rallied 6¼ points and American Machine and Foundry and Union Carbide 4 each. General Motors, after three days of sluggish price movement, suddenly spurted 3 points to 159, or only 2 points below last Saturday's record-breaking high.

PAN-HELLENIC CONVENTION AT PITT

Fraternity women from urban universities in all parts of the country will convene in the University of Pittsburgh tomorrow at a conference of Pan-Hellenic delegates from urban universities. Universities as far west as Minnesota and as far east as New York City will be represented. The convention is the first meeting of strictly urban university delegates to be held in this country. Formerly, Pan-Hellenic conferences have included universities of all types among those represented. Dorothy Davis, 214 Onyx avenue, Mt. Oliver, a junior at Pitt, is chairman of the conference.

Sessions will open Thursday morning with an address by J. Steele Gow, executive secretary of the university, who will speak on "Special Problems of Students in an Urban University." Miss Helen B. Rush, assistant to the dean of women, will speak on "The Place of Fraternities for Women in an Urban University." Mrs. Georgia Lloyd Jones, representative from National Pan-Hellenic, will speak at a mass meeting of all fraternity women on the Pitt campus.

At 1:30 visiting delegates will be entertained by faculty women at Pitt, who comprise the women's fraternity committee. They include Miss Thyrsa W. Amos, dean of women; Miss Helen B. Rush, Miss Ellen Geyer, Miss Blossom Henry and Mrs. Lotte Olga Lohstoetter.

The afternoon will be taken up with a discussion of fraternity problems and delegates will be guests of the university fraternities at dinner at 6 o'clock.

Activities on Friday will include further discussion of fraternity problems, luncheon at the Delta Delta Delta House, a sight seeing trip of Pittsburgh in the afternoon and a formal banquet at the Heinz House in the evening, when the Pan-Hellenic scholarship cup, awarded annually to the Pitt women's fraternity, which has the highest scholarship rating, will be presented.

Among the universities which will be represented are the University of Pennsylvania, University of Minnesota, Syracuse University, Akron University, Toledo University, University of Cincinnati, Ohio State, Hunter College, New York City, George Washington University, University of Buffalo and Butler College, Indianapolis.

Members of the committee in charge of the affair are Dorothy Davis, chairman; Dorothy Koch, Freda Rayder, Helena Coster and Ethel Bazell.

LIFE SAVINGS LOST IN BUNCO GAME

Instead of his life savings, $3,000, Joe Perry, Slickville garage keeper, today has a package of scrap paper and city detectives have a slick money-making machine and a strong desire to lay hands on two ingenious Italians.

"It was the old two-for-one money-making racket," City Detectives Frank Malone and Mike Corterelli explained. Perry gave them $3,000, they put it in the machine and took out a package of paper that they told him to keep wrapped for 24 hours and then he would find $6,000."

The machine was seized yesterday in a restaurant at 567 Seventh avenue. The restaurant owner, James R. Lancia, disclaimed knowledge of its owners and the detectives indicated they believed him by not arresting him.

A telephone number led to the finding of the machine. Perry said he had heard the one Italian call the other and he told detectives the number. It was the restaurant.

A vivid imagination was required to fleece Perry. His "friends" said they had located the wife and child of a Washington millionaire who was willing to pay $100,000 for their return. Money was needed to finance the return, it seems, and Joe went to the bank.

A short circuit in an electric floor cleaner was blamed for a fire that caused $500 damage in the home of Henry Cole, president of Harris Pump Company, at 6100 Stanton avenue. Mrs. Cole and a maid rushed to the street and escaped injury.

Keeping Apace!

Twenty-two years ago trains rumbled along Liberty avenue — Pittsburghers grudgingly paid toll to cross the bridges to the City of Allegheny. Honus Wagner, in his prime, was cavorting at "short" in old "Expo" Park—Pittsburgh councilmen heatedly discussed removal of the "Fifth Avenue hump"—Pittsburghers took pride in the opening of Carnegie Institute—'twas twenty-two years ago on a blustery morning, March 17th, that curious Pittsburgh throngs attended the formal opening of a Pittsburgh branch of May, Stern & Company.

During these 22 years—"Lindy" bridges the ocean in what was then Wright Brothers' 'Fool Contraption.' The giant "Los Angeles" soars dizzily to Havana or across the ocean, if you please. "Hello, Pittsburgh, this is London phoning. Please have the KDKA orchestra broadcast a snappy jazz number." Even Jules Verne, in his wildest flights of imagination, was outdone by these present-day realities. And let us not forget also the submarine or the giant liners which cross the ocean in a few days, or the crack flyers which cross our continent.

Pittsburgh has kept apace, supplying the propellors for Lindy's plane, the aluminum for the "Los Angeles." The world's telephones are dependent chiefly upon Pittsburgh, and in radio KDKA stands out as the pioneer broadcasting station of the world.

And May-Stern's have kept apace, establishing the homes of these master builders, creating the comforts and the ideal home environment vital to this Spirit of Progress. We do not measure our success by the bigness of our buildings for their mere constant growth is not sufficient cause for jubilation. We glory rather, in our home-making achievements which naturally has earned for us an ever-growing legion of satisfied patrons with whom we now celebrate our 22nd birthday.

BAKER DECRIES BUGABOO OF MACHINES

PARIS, March 14.—The bugaboo that mechanization of American industries will eventually create serious unemployment is an idle fear, Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, of Pittsburgh, told a French audience at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace meeting yesterday.

"A certain craft may be ruined by a new mechanical process," Dr. Baker suggested, "but the artisan is merely displaced, and filters into some other occupation."

The shorter working period, the increased demand for commodities and the larger purchasing power of the average individual were cited by Dr. Baker as explanation that unemployment, in the United States at least, has not become serious.

Dr. Baker continued:

The development of machinery and the increasing utilization of the forces of nature for the development of power to drive these machiens have as inevitable results the bringing together of small enterprises into great aggregations. The individual worker and the small manufacturer are drawn into organizations that tend to grow larger and larger. The small factory is absorbed by the big factory, and this tendency is not confined to the business of manufacturing. There seems to be an economic law at work which urges men of nearly all vocations to combine their enterprises into great units. We cannot foresee how far or how long the present drift will continue. It will require some far-reaching scientific discovery that will revolutionize our methods of industry, to give back to the individual his independence, his ability to work for himself, instead of being a private or perhaps an officer in a great throng of workers.

We hear such undemocratic expressions as slaves of the machine, slaves of the organization, slaves of various forms of standardized employment. The workmen's job has been specialized so that if, for instance, he is engaged in an automobile factory, his day's task may consist in operating an appliance that threads only one certain type of bolt. This device makes the task of the worker less onerous in the sense that he is not compelled to use a great amount of his physical strength.

It has become the fashion to speak of standardized employment of this kind as soul-deadening, soul-destroying. A good deal of the talk about the benumbing effects of routine labor is futile, profitless and unnecessary. The movement towards the rationalization of labor, in America at least, is irresistible. In any case, much of the sympathy that is offered by the would-be reformers of our industrial system is wasted and is misunderstood by those they wish to help, because good pay and a short day are regarded as compensating adequately for the monotony of labor. After all, with leisure and with money, to spend in one's free hours, the day's work becomes a task that can be gotten through with, no matter how barren it may be of self-satisfaction, and the freedom from responsibility is not unwelcome. Though we may not acknowledge it, we are relieved when we are guided by others in our work. In theory at least democracy has increased its sway since the war, and our demands for a wider liberty of action and greater independence have been heard, and this means not only easier living conditions, but also relief from the obligation to settle in our minds hard problems. The average man of today has more "rights" than were enjoyed by his fathers, but in reality he has less freedom of action in that he is less his own master and a smaller unit in a greater whole.

B. & O. PLANT CURTAILED

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad roundhouse at Connellsville, destroyed by fire two months ago, will be replaced by a less extensive plant, General Superintendent E. A. Peck indicated today when asked regarding reports that the railroad would not rebuild at that place.

"Plans are now under consideration in the East regarding what is to be done at Connellsville," said he. "We will not need as much equipment as we had there. Some of the work will continue to be done at Somerset and Smithfield, where we have already put on more men."

No additions to the Glenwood shops to take care of additional work are contemplated, Mr. Peck said.

"THE CONGRESSMAN'S SON" By Oscar N.

She stood crushed, mute, abandoned by the man in whom she had placed her trust.

CHAPTER VII.

Frisby carried his hands in his hip pockets, revealing his white vest.

THE BLINDING SNOWSTORM

My mother was trudging through the snow, cursing at every breath. If I do say so myself I was the tiny bundle clasped to her breast. She always carried me in a shopping bag with her other packages.

The wind blew mercilessly, and it was with difficulty that my mother found her way into the lobby of the Metropole Hotel.

Frisby suddenly——

The Birth of Love

LOVE can be born in a DAY. It can also be KILLED overnight! Was there ever in the world a thing so STRONG, and yet so FRAGILE, so fragrant, yet so FEARFUL, so treacherous and dangerous, yet so compassionately tender and SWEET?

Who can know, who is not ALREADY in love, whether before a new day ends that from a SPARK caught from another eye, from the PRESSURE of some hand, or from some softly spoken PHRASE, love may not be, on an instant, conceived in one's HEART? For this is one of the thrilling MYSTERIES of love. One never knows WHEN or where one will meet one's love. And, strangely enough, one rarely RECOGNIZES him on sight.

It seems a man may spend YEARS trying to fan a little FLAME in a girl's heart, in the hope that she will ultimately CONSENT to sit on his hearth and be a permanent little FIRE to keep him warm for the rest of his days. Yet, even after years of DEVOTION he may fail. Then along will come ANOTHER man, and in the flash of an eye, arouse her INTEREST sufficiently to make her want to know him for BETTER or worse.

Time means nothing in Love.

Love can be BORN in a day, yet take many years to die. It can also take years to GROW, and be killed in an INSTANT.

There is no birth control in Love.

BUGS BAER Says

A ROACH has no chance of getting an education in a plate of alphabetical soup.

All the ingredients are there except the punctuation, but he can't put them together in a sequence which will spell names, dates and facts.

Which is exactly the same bowl of political chowder in which a citizen finds himself when he tries to figure out the cross-works campaign puzzle of some years ago.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

It was in this campaign that the Democrats lost everything but honor.

It was in this campaign that the Republicans won everything but honor.

Honor was not a campaign issue.

We are willing to allow the dead past to bury its neck, but its ghosts must arise and pay income taxes.

The passengers on the gravy train have long since alighted at their station. But the stubs of tickets remain to testify that the mileage budget is greatly in excess of the distance traveled.

It was an oil burning road. But the investigating opticians are still searching out clinkers in blinking eyes.

As a voter whose ballot rises and falls with the fluctuations of the candidatial market, we would like to know why we were not approached when the nation was in danger and profits were to be made.

Whenever there is $260,000 to be expended on the curb, we want to be rolling in the gutter with the rest of the boys.

No man can buy our vote.

But he can lend us money on it.

If there is another $260,000 to be scattered to the four breezes in 1928 we don't want to be hiding behind a wind shield.

We don't care to know about the slush that has gone before, but we are curious about the blizzards of the coming campaign.

We would like to soak up a little nutrition. If the unknown generals will supply the gravy we will furnish the crust of bread.

More Speed Is Suggested For Public Improvements

Council has received from a committee making a study of unemployment in Western Pennsylvania a suggestion that public works be expedited in order to increase the demand for labor and materials. It is a good idea and one that is said to find favor with Council.

The deliberateness of action with which the law surrounds public improvements appears as an impediment in times like the present when many men are eager for employment, but it seems there should be no tardiness to delay contemplated public works beyond the time actually needed for preparation to get them going.

Various city and county departments should realize that in many instances the need for employment is urgent. The county commissioners especially should have that fact in view as they consider their coming loan proposal, which they have indicated they might not put before the voters until fall.

Protest Move Tending To Delay Vote Trials

The announcement that a single attorney had been engaged to defend the 200 persons who are charged with violations of the election laws has brought a stinging protest from Attorney A. M. Imbrie, chairman of the Allegheny County Bar Association's special committee appointed to give assistance in the prosecution of these cases.

He declared the development would tend to the growth of "a tremendous public scandal" and urged every trade, civic and religious body to take a stand against the sudden turn in the situation which was forecast in The Sunday Sun-Telegraph of recent date.

Mr. Imbrie's objection is based on the certainty of prolonging the consideration of these cases. This because of the custom of postponing the cases of any lawyer engaged in the defense of another. With 200 cases, it is pointed out, the prosecution could thus be extended for a period that might run into many years.

Whether or not the suspicion of political trickery in this matter proves to be well grounded, certainly there is basis for belief that every effort is being made to delay the trials, which the public has demanded shall be prompt and decisive.

Mr. Imbrie does well in calling upon the civic and religious bodies to take action of a nature that will show their spirit and indignation to be thoroughly aroused.

Our First-Class Country Needs a First-Class Navy

No lobby in Washington is more pernicious than the pacifist lobby of goody-goodies and dreaming idealists, intent on whittling down the national defense.

Their influence was made manifest in the report of the House Naval Affairs Committee, which recommends the construction of only 16 ships, instead of the 71 new ships which President Coolidge wants built, over a period of nine years.

Before the House Committee, the leading witness of the "no navy" crowd was Mr. L. V. Gordon, representing the Church Peace Union, endowed by Andrew Carnegie.

On cross-examination Mr. Gordon admitted that he was born in Australia, came to this country in 1904 and had been a British subject until his naturalization as an American citizen two years ago.

Congress should not slash the President's Navy program to meet the demands of a Britisher on whose American citizenship papers the ink is barely dry. We do not believe he represented the sentiments of the church-going people of this country.

No one can call President Coolidge a "big navy" man. No living statesman has done as much as he to bring about naval disarmament. He gave up in despair only when his proposals were flatly rejected at the Geneva conference last summer.

Then President Coolidge wisely and patriotically decided that the nation's defenses could no longer be neglected and he indorsed Secretary Wilbur's Navy program.

The President proposes to give us a "treaty navy;" that is, a navy such as was promised to the people in 1921 by the Washington Disarmament Conference, when we sunk 850,000 tons of capital ships to strip down to England's level—a navy equal to England's and two-thirds stronger than Japan's.

Since that date, the President knows, we have stood still in naval construction. England has raced ahead until she has 63 modern cruisers, built or building; Japan has 33, and we have 18.

Since the war, Great Britain has authorized 27 submarines, of which 16 are building; Japan has authorized 24, 14 building; we have authorized six and are building three.

The House Committee's report advocates appropriations for a three-year program building 15 cruisers, one aircraft carrier and no submarines. To omit all submarines and allow only one aircraft carrier is to slight the two main elements in our naval defense.

We believe that Congress will disregard the report of the Naval Affairs Committee and follow the President and authorize the full Wilbur program. We believe that Congress will liberalize the appropriation recommended by the House Committee and order a group of submarines built, also more aircraft carriers.

The House Committee recommending a "little navy" admits in its report:

"This program when completed will still leave our Navy in a secondary position."

Perhaps someone will get up on the floor of House or Senate and remind Congress that this is a first-class people and a first-class country and cannot do with a second-class Navy.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

When We Don't Know Anything

THE University of Chicago sends out the information that "discovery of the 'absolute zero of test intelligence' has been made by Professor L. L. Thurstone of the psychology department, in a computation of the statistics of seven standard intelligence tests. Discovering for the first time that there is a definite and regular increase in the variation of test performance in growing children, Dr. Thurstone was able to project the relation down to the zero point, which he discovered to be about birth or a few months before."

And Dr. Thurstone's own account of his achievement is put thus: "Just as it is possible to define the absolute zero of temperature without ever physically realizing it, just so the present study attempts to locate the absolute zero of test intelligence in terms of actual records."

Physicists have never been able precisely to picture in their imaginations what would happen to matter if it could be reduced to the absolute zero of temperature. Some have thought that it would disappear, or cease to be matter. It would be equally difficult to depict the state of a human being at the zero of intelligence, which Dr. Thurstone locates "about birth or a few months before."

It is a very old question in philosophy when the soul enters the body. Is that interesting moment to be fixed at the "zero point of intelligence?" But intelligence, it may be said, pertains to the mind, not to the soul, for some hold that mind and soul are not identical. Then there are others—and many experimental psychologists stand in that category, who deny that there is any soul, while, as for the mind, they hold it to be merely a kind of by-product of the body. It is to this that they apply their ever multiplying "intelligence tests."

Dr. Thurstone admits, however, that there are no reliable methods of measuring intelligence below two or three years of age. But he puts much stress upon one point which he thinks has been conclusively settled by his study, and that is that there are greater differences in intelligence among older children than there are among young children.

"In other words," he says, "a large group of children including both bright and dull ought to differ more and more among themselves as they grow up." To the uninitiated this would seem to be probable without any elaborate tests.

But how about the tests themselves? Many people are becoming a little skeptical about all these measurements and statistical calculations, based on our fingers, our ears, our wrinkles and even our "intelligence"—which, however, be it remarked, is spoken of only as "test intelligence."

Only a short time ago a skeptic of this kind, a man of practical experience in the matter of children's minds—Dr. McMurry, professor emeritus in Teachers College, New York, affirmed, with reference to the New York State examination system, that "on the whole it has been abominable, and we are moving toward a worse system. The trouble is that it is only the mechanical phases of education that can be tested by the examinations, psychological and others, so much in vogue today."

Dr. McMurry gave an example of a "Thorndike-McCall test" that had been applied to pupils in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of a school of which he is director, and after ridiculing it he added: "That kind of testing brings education to a low level. It makes teachers bend their efforts toward the wrong kind of education. It's all because we've an army of young Ph. D's who have never taught children, framing up these tests and judging the efforts of teachers by them. We should test the testers and the tests."

However, new things like old things must be composed of both good and bad, of both truth and error, and upon the whole we are advancing, and as a race are getting more and more rapidly away from the "zero of intelligence"—if that has indeed been located.

Be Thorough

ARE you trying to become proficient in so many things that you are not thorough enough in the fundamentals of those things you study?

It is very easy to skim through and make a showing.

It is quite another matter to have a solid foundation before you try to show off.

What good will a smattering do you a year from now?

No matter what the subject, you can't remember what you don't know.

You must know things well in order to remember them.

A fact here and there doesn't do you any good.

You are wasting your time unless you dig in and learn thoroughly whatever subject you take up.

You hear parents say, sometimes, that they don't expect the son or the daughter to be professional, so a superficial knowledge will do.

That is where they are wrong and so are you, if you think that a reading or a listening knowledge will get you anywhere.

Absence of occupation is not rest;
A mind quite vacant is a mind distress'd.

O. O. McINTYRE

In Snowy Alps

ST. MORITZ, March 14.—The first night in St. Moritz is spent in the wide-eyed manner of the gold fish. You find sleep impossible and blame it on the dinner coffee or natural excitement of a change of country. You learn the next day the high altitude caused the racing pulse and stimulation.

But one becomes acclimated quickly. The women wear long trousers in the male fashion. Feet are shod in heavy brogans over which are worn heavy woolen stockings. Skiing and bob sledding—belly buster fashion—are the chief sports and they make it hum.

There are two tricks to skiing. One is to avoid a used or slick mountain for the initial venture. The other is to keep both legs going in the same direction. It is rather "scarey" to whizz off on skiis at breakneck speed with no idea how it is all going to turn out.

But if you have a spill it is like landing in a soft feather bed and you only suffer a slight blow to your dignity. Bob sledding offers the same thrill as a Coney Island rolly-coaster at far greater speed. You shoot up hills and drop dizzily down vales with a pulse-pumping zip.

If you come here with a disgust for food epitomized in sipping a weak broth you find yourself in 24 hours wolfing a large juicy steak with all the trimmings. I thought the Swiss existed chiefly on native cheese, but I'm over that notion. They are grand cooks.

Women who pride themselves on dainty feet should not visit St. Moritz. The feet are wrapped and ballooned into such miniature barges they are known not as "Airedales" but "Great Danes." The strange part of it is that after a time the effect appears smart.

All servants seem to be known by the name of Fritz in the same fashion, I suppose, we call Pullman porters George. The Fritz assigned to me took me on my first skiing this morning. After fastening my skiis, he gave me a shove, I swallowed seven quarts of air, all the mountains and houses seemed to flatten out and I landed against a hillside doing a complete split. I'm mad at Fritz.

Jay O'Brien, well known along Broadway, leads the social activities. He is a former husband of Mae Murray and now the husband of a wife of Julius Fleischmann, the late Cincinnati millionaire sportsman. He is a good-looking fellow with a soft Southern drawl and the life of the party—at which he seems to be a perpetual host.

A morning paper announces "Heavy Snow Storm Hits New York." Somehow in this blanket of snow that does not sound of great news importance. Under my open window sits a party of four at an outdoor table. They have been skiing and are now whis-kiing—what an atrocious pun—and I hope to finish this before they begin singing. A few drinks here and you may depend on a song.

One of the guests is a chunky little man with a button nose, who wears ear muffs and collects autographs. He is from Waxahachie, Tex., and goes from one hotel door to another with a gentle knock and request for a signature. I've often wondered what people did who lived in Waxahachie.

I stopped in a little house along a slope today to inquire a direction. The man who answered the knock eyed me curiously and gave the desired information. "You are a long way from the Hotel Majestic," he called as I set off. One rarely sees a waiter's face so I did not remember him. He had been a waiter at that New York hotel when I lived there a good many years ago. He had come home at the outbreak of the war, lost an arm in action and is now conducting a little grocery shop in the Alps. And his first name is Fritz.

In the smoking room this evening I was surrounded by a party of five big game hunters. They discussed elephant round-ups in Africa, wild pig sticking in Borneo and tiger hunting in India. And I had a feeling when they glanced at me they rather suspected me of doing fancy embroidery work.

Condemned

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

Victor Hugo in his grandiloquent way said: "Nous sommes tous condamnes."

We are all condemned criminals.

The lurid descriptions of Mrs. Snyder and Mr. Gray's last hours before execution gave us all the shivers. The newspaper reporter seems to have the same complaint that some preachers have who at a funeral strive to dwell upon all the effective scenes concerning the death of the departed in order to produce tears from the auditors. It is technically known as boring for water.

The more we think of it, however, we conclude that there was but one terrible thing about this execution. That was the certainty of it.

We are all condemned to death, as Victor Hugo says. We must all walk the plank, sooner or later, or face a firing squad, or die in battle or breathe our last in our beds. Dying is dying whatever be its accompaniment.

And the act of death is probably not so horrible to the actor as it is to the spectators.

Dying is simply lapsing into unconsciousness and the worst pains are felt by those about the victim who realize that they will never see him again.

The victim himself probably realizes little or nothing.

Also the anticipation of death is worse than death itself. The certainty that they were to die upon a given date was fiercer torment to the souls of these criminals than the passage through them of the electric charge, which occupied but a few seconds.

If we knew that we had to die upon the stroke of a certain hour we should die 100 deaths in anticipation of it.

Shakespeare says:

"Cowards die many times before their deaths;
The valiant never taste of death but once,
Of all the wonders that I yet have heard,
It seems to me most strange that men should fear;
Seeing that death, a necessary end,
Will come when it will come."

That men turn their thoughts to religion when they think death is certain is a testimony to the influence of death upon life and to the superior and immortal qualities of our spiritual natures.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

MEN who are not for women in politics are always happy when one of them is caught napping.

Nancy Ann Miller turns Hindu on Tuesday and becomes another of the wives of the Maharajah of Indore on Saturday. When Nancy Ann gets ready to write—"From Seattle to Barwaha and Back Again"—she will have no difficulty finding a publisher.

"Oh, justice, when expelled from other habitations," go to Brooklyn. Yesterday Justice Callaghan of the Supreme Court gave Ephram Jeffe a divorce and threw his wife's counter suit out of court. The wife opened her husband's letters and had a phone operator at his club report to her all his phone calls from women. Worthy of a detective, but the court didn't think so much of it for a wife.

A high school teacher has a talkative colored girl who takes care of her apartment. "Been readin' about this companionate marriage, Miss Grace?" she asked the teacher.

"Yes," was the answer, "but I don't know what it's all about."

"I been readin' it," said the girl, "and I declare, Miss Grace, the white folks is getting more and more like the colored folks every day!"

Marie Pettingill, of Lynn, Mass., bailed her bridegroom out of jail so she could marry him on the date set. Last week a girl out West married her sweetheart in jail and a man of 70 was married on his death bed to a girl of 26. When a woman will, she will, and there's the end of it!

Patrolman Vincent Priore arrested Mrs. Augustus Drumm, 22, for driving past a stop light. She cried in court and he paid her fine, explaining that he just couldn't stand it to see a woman cry.

You see who furnishes the money so that the woman can "pay and pay!"

Mrs. L. G. Hardman, wife of Georgia's governor, has four children and when she has important guests for dinner the children are not made to sit at another table. Here is a mother who thinks children are people.

New York has started a campaign to raise $1,500,000 for a babies' hospital; a drive is being made on Congress for $75,000,000 to care for the children of the unemployed, the underpaid and the bankrupt; Henry Ford is endowing a school to train dependent small boys and give them a chance in the world, and a great free milk fund for babies is established.

If you are in any doubt as to who our "best people" are, they are the ones who are doing these things.

Isn't It So?

Many of the old-time clinging vines now have granddaughters who are ramblers.
